Monday's Naval Review at Cowes Delayed Two Hours by Storm.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The naval maneuvers in the Solent today were marred by the weather. Torrents of rain and half a gale of wind drove the spectators from the sea front and it was noon, instead of 10 o'clock, when the royal yacht Victoria and Albert left Cowes and took King Edward through the lines of the fleet.

Subsequently an array of battleships and cruisers to the number of nearly 80 formed in two columns and passed on either side of the Victoria and Albert. All the war vessels manned ship as they passed the royal yacht.

ENDS HIS LIFE AFTER LOSING HOPE OF LOVE

Robert Reading Remington Shoots Himself in Newport.

UNBALANCED MIND RUINS HIS FUTURE

Causes Breaking of Engagement to Marry Daughter of J. J. Van Alen.

PITTSBURGH FRIENDS SHOCKED BY TIDINGS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newport, R. I., Aug. 18.—For some reason that has not yet developed, and which probably never will be fully understood, Robert R. Remington, head of the firm of R. R. Remington, advertising agents of New York, whose engagement was announced to Miss May Van Alen, oldest daughter of Mr. James J. Van Alen, last spring and recently, as it now appears, broken, committed suicide by shooting himself in the Newport reading room this afternoon.

The father of the young woman whom Mr. Remington at one time expected to wed this season, believes that the young man's deed was the result of an unbalanced mind because of which, it is stated, the engagement existing between Mr. Remington and Miss Van Alen was severed. But, however this may be, Mr. Remington's suicide was preceded by an exchange of letters between himself and his former financee, though several of these were never opened.

Mr. Remington selected the very quietest part of the reading room to end his life, going to the library in the second story in the rear of the building. This is a very small room, very little frequented at this time of the year, when members of the club prefer to sit out on the piazza. Here he sat and wrote for a while, it is believed, for there was every evidence about the room that he had done so.

Then Comes Death.

Then followed the firing of two shots, the first of which caused merely a flesh wound and the second, more carefully aimed, ending his earthly existence at once. Two shots were indistinctly heard by the steward of the reading room and the servants who were on duty, but they thought it was exploding of gasoline in an automobile, which is sometimes very loud and sharp, and is in fact, very much like the crack of a pistol, so no immediate investigation was made. In a few minutes, though, the barber of the club, whose place is right under the library, suggested that he had really heard pistol shots over his head.

At this a small party headed by former Mayor Daniel Fearing, mounted the stairs and hastened to the library, where the form of Mr. Remington was found on the floor. Near him, just a few inches from his hand, lay a revolver. To all appearances Mr. Remington was dead, but Mr. Fearing personally summoned Dr. Ecroyd, whose office is a block away. He pronounced Mr. Remington quite dead, and as medical examiner took charge of his body and effects.

Two Wounds Are Found.

Three chambers of the revolver were empty, but it was not believed that more than two shots were fired, as only two wounds could be found. The one which was probably the first inflicted was meant for the temple, but it went wide of the mark and caused only a superficial flesh wound in the side of the face and across the scalp. This could not have made him unconscious, for the second shot was evidently very carefully aimed, for he put the barrel of the revolver in his mouth and fired, the ball passing upward through the roof of his mouth and into his skull.

Following the shooting there was an effort to keep the matter quiet, and for two hours nobody but officials directly concerned knew anything about it. Official details were not obtainable till two hours later, when the police made an investigation, and as soon as all formalities had been completed, the body was turned over to Undertaker Cottrell. Mr. Fearing took the matter in charge and saw to it that Mr. Remington's relatives were informed.

Rumors that the engagement between Mr. Remington and Miss Van Alen had been broken off had been current for some time, but Mr. Remington repeatedly denied it, and had, in fact, stated positively that the marriage would take place here in Trinity church in September.

Van Alen's Remain Silent.

Moreover, Mr. Van Alen and Miss Van Alen, though repeatedly asked, declined to say anything regarding the matter, so that while society was discussing the wedding as having been indefinitely postponed the only seemingly official information that could be obtained was to the effect that it would take place in due time.

Mr. Remington, upon his arrival here last Friday, was noticeably depressed. He kept himself much within his apartments at the La Forge cottage or within the shade of its cool piazza. He has been at the Casino only a few times, though he was there this morning. He departed just before noon, going to the vicinity of the Van Alen villa. A half hour later he returned up Bellevue avenue with his hands in his pockets and his head bent. Evidently he was very much cast down. He journeyed on to the reading room, though he remained there only a few minutes, when he went to the La Forge cottage for luncheon. He ate very heartily, it is said, despite his depression. Luncheon over, he again

ELKIN WILL NOT GIVE COMFORT TO THE MACHINE

Says He Will Not Oppose Indorsement of Pennypacker.

DID NOT CONFER WITH ORGANIZATION MEN

Attorney General John P. Elkin made his first visit to Pittsburgh yesterday since the Republican state convention. He came on business and did not see any of the old organization people. His callers were all business associates.

The attorney general says that he will not attempt to interfere with the indorsement of Pennypacker by the Citizens. Reports from the east have predicted that Gov. Stone and Elkin would endeavor to assist the local machine by finding a method of keeping the Republican gubernatorial nominee off the Citizens ticket. Mr. Elkin was asked about this report. This was his reply:

"I am not in that."

The attorney general pleaded ignorance of state politics. He said that he had been enjoying a vacation of three weeks and had lost track of politics. Yesterday he did not register at a hotel, as has been his custom. He went to the office of R. B. Scandrett and was there from shortly after 2 o'clock until almost 5, when he left for Philadelphia.

Charles S. Crawford returned from the east yesterday morning. He says that Judge Pennypacker and the Browns have consented to go on the Citizens ticket. None of them has written a formal letter of acceptance. The work of securing signers to the nomination papers of the state candidates has started. In a few days the papers will be filed at Harrisburg.

Friends of George W. Guthrie, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, insist that he will not go on the Union ticket if the local machine candidates are to appear in the same column. The only reason that Guthrie accepted the lieutenant governorship nomination was because some people made him believe he would be helping the fusion county ticket. His friends say that when he is shown that he will be injuring the cause of the fusionists he will refuse to go on the Union ticket.

The announcement of Congressman W. H. Graham that Senator Quay had told him he was not worried about the congressional fight in this county and told Graham that he would probably be defeated caused the machine fresh worry yesterday. The machine leaders say that it was very impolitic for him to make the statement. Quay knows that if Graham is defeated he will be succeeded in congress by George Shiras III., a Republican. All of the Citizens candidates for congressmen are Republicans and would be recognized as such if elected. For this reason the machine men think Graham would have been wise had he not uttered his tale of woe.

P. C. Knox, attorney general of the United States, came home yesterday. He spent the morning with some of his friends and after luncheon went to the country, where he intended to remain until today. His friends do not credit the eastern story that Mr. Knox will succeed Justice Shiras on the United States supreme court bench. Justice Shiras will leave next spring and Pennsylvania will try to secure his successor.

ARE FOR PENNYPACKER.

Philadelphians in Union Party Strongly Favor Indorsement of Republican State Ticket.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The Union party city committee today arranged for the election of delegates to the state convention which will meet here September 3.

Philadelphia will have 94 delegates in the convention and it is expected that three-fourths of them will vote for Pennypacker's nomination.

Most of the active spirits in the local Independent organization have indorsed the Republican candidate for governor and if Pattison is nominated on September 3 there will be very little doing here in behalf of the Union party state ticket.

JAPANESE ISLAND IS OVERWHELMED BY VOLCANIC FIRE

All Inhabitants, Numbering Fully One Hundred and Fifty Persons, Are Killed.

DEBRIS COVERS ISLAND

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Yokohama, Aug. 18.—The little island of Torishima was overwhelmed by a volcanic eruption between August 13 and August 15 and all the inhabitants, numbering 150 persons, were undoubtedly killed.

The island is covered with volcanic debris and all the houses on it have disappeared.

The eruption is still proceeding and is accompanied by submarine eruptions in the vicinity which make it dangerous for vessels to approach the island.

Torishima is one of a chain of islands extending between the Bonin islands and Hondo, the biggest island of Japan.

GEN. ALGER HESITATES.

Has Not Determined Upon Announcing His Candidacy for the United States Senate.

DETROIT, Aug. 18.—When Gen. R. A. Alger was asked today if he was ready to announce his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed the late James McMillan, he said:

Upon mature consideration I have decided to consider the matter a few days longer before arriving at a determination. I shall reach a decision some time this week."

This is taken to mean that Gen. Alger may not be a candidate.

The News this afternoon says:

"If his health permits, William C. McMillan will be a candidate for United States senator to succeed his father. This statement is practically authoritative."

TURKEY TOO SLOW.

Leishman Informs Porte No New Questions Will Be Taken Up Till Old Ones Are Settled.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 18.—The non-execution by the Turkish government of agreements reached long ago on several questions affecting the interests of American citizens has led to somewhat strained relations between the United States legation and the porte.

United States Minister Leishman has informed the latter that he will not discuss other matters until the terms of the settlements already agreed upon are carried out.

Diplomatic circles anticipate further undue delay and that this may possibly lead to a sharp reminder from the United States.

WOMAN FATALLY SHOT.

Bridgeport Husband Taken to Jail at His Own Request, Fearing Violence of Neighbors.

BRIDGEPORT, O., Aug. 18.—Henry Koehnlein, a prominent contractor, went home this morning and, it is said, started a quarrel with his wife. No person saw what followed, but neighbors rushed in after hearing two reports and found Mrs. Koehnlein lying with the side of her head blown in from the charge of a shot gun.

Mrs. Koehnlein is dying at a hospital in Wheeling, and the husband was taken to jail in St. Clairsville at his own request, fearing that violence might be offered by the people of Bridgeport.

ONE KILLED IN A CLASH NEAR MINE

Striker Is Shot Dead and Deputy Is Arrested.

SERIOUS RIOTING WAS THREATENED

Union Leaders Prevented Conflict Following the Shooting.

GOBIN PREPARING TO SEND SOLDIERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 18.—In a clash between striking mine workers and deputies here tonight, Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lansford, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured and the town is now quiet. Harry McElmoyle, a deputy, was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk.

The shooting occurred shortly after 6 o'clock. Five deputies were on their way to shaft No. 1 of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, just outside of the town. In the center of the town they were met by a number of strikers who began persuading them not to go to the colliery. The officers did not stop, but kept on their way and tried to prevent any trouble.

The strikers, it is said, then began to abuse the men and followed them nearly up to the colliery. There are conflicting stories as to what actually brought on the clash, but just before the deputies entered the place a shot was heard and Sharp dropped to the ground. The bullet entered his body close to his heart, and he died almost instantly.

Only One Shot Fired.

Witnesses say that the shooting was done by McElmoyle and that he stood only six or seven feet from Sharp when he fired his revolver. Only one shot was fired.

The deputies immediately withdrew to the colliery and a large crowd gathered about the place. When it was learned that Sharp was dead there was the greatest indignation among the strikers and other town people, and for a time it looked as though serious trouble would follow. Cooler heads among the mine workers prevailed upon the crowd to disperse, using the argument that if there is any blood shed troops would surely be sent here from Shenandoah. The crowd dispersed, and the town soon calmed down.

Witnesses to the shooting went to the office of W. R. Watkins, justice of the peace, and made information against McElmoyle, charging him with the shooting of Sharp. The justice placed the warrant in the hands of Constable Dockert, who found McElmoyle at shaft No. 1, and accompanied by a guard of other officers took his prisoner to the county jail at Mauch Chunk.

Mob Threatened Officers.

Another version of the encounter says Sharp and three friends met the party of five deputies who were on their way to work and that Sharp walked up to one of the men, presumably McElmoyle, called him an "unfair worker" and told him that he would "be more of a man if he did not wear a star." He then made a lunge at the officer, whereat the latter drew his revolver and fired.

After the shooting the five officers made their way to the Nesquehoning colliery, where they were employed. Sharp was a leader among the younger element of the strikers, and when the news of his death spread, the entire Panther creek valley was thrown into a turmoil. When his body arrived at his home in Lansford 500 miners gathered. After the dead striker had been carried home about half the mob started on a march over the mountain to Nesquehoning to wreak vengeance upon the deputies. Before they reached there the five officers were spirited away, and taken to Mauch Chunk under a heavy guard.

Tonight Baird Snyder, assistant superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, appealed to Gen. Gobin at Shenandoah to send troops to Lansford. He said that the entire Panther creek valley from Nesquehoning to Mauch Chunk was in a riotous state and that serious trouble was feared before morning.

Getting the Troops Ready.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Aug. 18.—Gen. Gobin is at present closeted with Trainmaster Keffer of the Philadelphia & Reading railway at military headquarters here relative to the removal of troops to the scene of disturbance at Nesquehoning. The general refuses to see reporters, but it is understood the second battalion of the Twelfth regiment under command of Col. Clements will leave here before morning. A train is in readiness at the Philadelphia & Reading depot to remove the troops.

Preparations are being made by the battalion for full readiness to leave upon the conclusion of the interview between Gen. Gobin and Trainmaster Keffer. A scene of activity and bustle around military headquarters is the only visible evidence that the militia will be at Nesquehoning before daylight.

Steel Company Wins Suit.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Judge Miller of Mercer county today handed down an opinion here in the case of Lewis S. Hoyt against the Shenango Valley Steel Company. The opinion is adverse to Hoyt, who brought the suit against the directors of the steel company, whom he alleged had divided among themselves 1,715 shares of Shenango Valley steel stock and then the capital of the concern was enlarged without giving other shareholders an opportunity of securing their proportionate share.

HANNA PREPARING TO GET IN WAGON WITH ROOSEVELT

Friends Say Senator Will Declare Himself When President Is His Guest.

TO ALSO RUN CAMPAIGN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 18.—Republicans who stand close to Senator Hanna said today that the visit of President Roosevelt to Cleveland in October will have a decisive bearing on the president's campaign for renomination and re-election.

Hanna will, while the president is his guest, formally tender his assistance in capturing the nomination. Senator Foraker came out several months ago openly advocating the renomination of Roosevelt. Senator Hanna has not committed himself, while his friends have been organizing a little boom for the Cleveland senator.

During the president's visit, however, Hanna will assure the president that, in the event of his nomination by the convention in 1904 he will consent to continue as national chairman and do as much for Roosevelt as he did for McKinley in 1896 and 1900.

Roosevelt, it is expected, will accept Hanna's offer and end the talk of the displacement of the senator as national chairman.

MAYOR TOM'S TROUBLE.

Has Hard Time Finding Candidate for Congress to Oppose Representative Burton.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Mayor Johnson having failed to induce John H. Clarke, a prominent corporation lawyer, to oppose Burton, has decided to support the Rev. Morgan Wood, one of the leading Congregational ministers of the country.

Rev. Mr. Wood is a preacher of the popular type. Big churches bid for his services when they need a man to revive a congregation that is decreasing in numbers.

In Detroit, Toronto and Cleveland he packed his churches. Standing room is always at a premium in Plymouth Congregational church, over which he presides.

Johnson has had a deal of trouble in finding men to oppose Burton and Beidler. State Representative Sage refused to move into the Twentieth district, and the mayor is searching in vain for a candidate against Beidler that suits him.

FAIR HEARING POSTPONED

Arrival of Relatives of the Late Millionaire Is Awaited in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Judge Carroll Cook today postponed the hearing of the application of Public Administrator Farnham for special letters of administration over the estates of Charles Fair and wife until tomorrow.

Until Mrs. Hannah Nelson, the mother of the late Mrs. Caroline Fair, shall arrive here from Plainfield, N. J., it is highly improbable that any testament from either of the victims of th accident in France will be filed for record here.

"We are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Fair's relatives," said Attorney Haggerty, "and don't, by any means, expect a legal battle, as has been intimated."

PREPARING FOR WABASH.

Western Maryland Grades to Be Reduced and Curves Straightened.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18.—Virgil L. Vogue, special engineer of the Wabash system, accompanied by Engineer Vandeventer of the Western Maryland started today on a inspection trip of the line of the Western Maryland road. The object of the trip is said to be to ascertain the probable cost of reducing the grades and curvature of the road to a minimum.

Vice President and General Manager Landstreet stated today that work on the construction of terminals for the Wabash system in this city will be begun about the first of the year.

Arrested for Killing Two Men.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—William Douglass, who shot and instantly killed William and Fred Johnson, brothers, at Anderson, this county, Saturday night, has been captured and is in jail here. The weapon used was a shot gun. Douglass claims the shooting was done in self-defense.

SENATORS AGREE TO HELP SETTLE MINERS' STRIKE

Will Invite President Mitchell and Leading Operators to Confer.

MERCHANTS VISIT QUAY AND PENROSE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 18.—The Quay cottage was the scene tonight of a conference between Senators Quay and Penrose and a delegation representing the People's Alliance of Wilkesbarre.

At the close of the conference George Llewellyn, one of the delegates, said there is every indication that by the end of the week steps will be taken which will bring the anthracite miners' strike to an end within two weeks. This result will depend, he said, in the success of the efforts of the senators to bring about a conference between President John Mitchell and the coal operators.

The visit of the delegation had its origin in a meeting of the People's Alliance held at Wilkesbarre about a week ago. George Llewellyn was requested to arrange a meeting with the senators, and tonight's conference was the result. Senator Penrose came down from Philadelphia to participate. The delegation was strictly non-partisan, and represented the business interests of the anthracite region, which have been seriously affected by the long strike.

All Are Business Men.

It was composed of the following men: G. J. Llewellyn, meerchant, Pittston; R. J. Armstrong, attorney and secretary of the state League of the Republican clubs, Wilkesbarre; Louis Hammerling, general agent of the United Mine Workers' Journal, Wilkesbarre; J. M. Jones, county commissioner of Luzerne county, Wilkesbarre; Patrick Norton, ex-commissioner of Luzerne county; Thomas C. Parker, jeweler, Wilkesbarre; Michael Murray, shoe merchant, Wilkesbarre; John Smoulter, president of the National Bank of Nanticoke; Benjamin Levy, merchant, Nanticoke; J. J. Joyce, merchant, Pittston; Solomon Deeble, mine superintendent for the Traders' Coal Company, and Solomon Bacharach, clerk to Gov. Stone, of Wilkesbarre.

Brief addresses of an explanatory and suggestive nature were made by Messrs. Llewellyn, Armstrong, Hammerling, Jones, Parker, Smoulter, Deeble and Bacharach. Nearly all of the speakers expressed friendship toward the miners and thought certain concessions should be made by the operators.

Quay Asks Questions.

Mr. Llewellyn, the principal speaker, suggested that both Senators Quay and Penrose meet President Mitchell and the leading operators for the purpose of discovering if arbitration could be secured.

Senator Quay asked who were the principal operators, and the delegates suggested President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, and J. Pierpont Morgan, who is expected to arrive in this city on Wednesday.

Both senators promised to do everything in their power to bring about a settlement by arbitration, and Mr. Quay said he would make every effort to see President John Mitchell and the leading operators and bring them together.

Neither Senator Quay nor Senator Penrose would make a statement for publication, considering it inadvisable to at this juncture of affairs. There is every reason for believing that the conference will have important results in the near future, and those who were present believe that the end of the strike is in sight.

Republicans Name a Senator.

CARLISLE, PA., Aug. 18.—The Republican conferees of the Thirty-second senatorial district, which comprises Adams and Cumberland counties, met here today and unanimously nominated Donald P. McPherson, former member of the legislature of Adams county, as the senatorial candidate.

SCHWAB SAILS FOR EUROPE TOMORROW

Will Take Long Vacation in Order to Regain His Health.

NO RETIREMENT IS CONTEMPLATED

Merely Follows Example Set by Morgan and Other Busy Men.

PRIVATE CAR STARTS FOR LORETTO TODAY

Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, will sail for Europe tomorrow. The object of the trip is to regain his health, which has been far from good ever since the attack at Atlantic City a few weeks ago.

Mr. Schwab's private car Loretto has been lying in the Union station yards in this city. Orders were received yesterday to send the car to Loretto this morning, and Mr. Schwab leaves today for New York to embark on the steamer. He has been at Loretto since last Thursday.

This private car, the most magnificent ever built, has been offered by Mr. Schwab to J. Pierpont Morgan for the latter's use during Mr. Schwab's absence, and the offer has been accepted. It is universally admitted to be the most luxuriously appointed traveling home in the world. In the car is over $15,000 worth of silverware, which, like the car, will be placed at Mr. Morgan's disposal.

Will Not Retire.

Those who are watching the reports of Mr. Schwab's resignation because of alleged unfriendliness of leading interests in the great corporation see a complete refutation of all reports of this kind in this simple offer and acceptance, as it indicates a friendly feeling between Mr. Morgan and the president.

Mr. Schwab has been advised by his physician that if he wishes to save the strength of mind and body nature gave him he must now drop absolutely, for several months at least, all business cares. He is still a young man and has decided that this is the better plan, especially as the affairs of the corporation have been largely by his own great labors for a year brought into such shape that such a rest for the overworked president is possible. While he is absent one of his lieutenants will discharge the routine duties of his office, but who it will be has not yet been decided.

Was Better Yesterday.

A special dispatch to The Gazette from Altoona last night said:

"The illness of Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who is at his summer home in Loretto in the Allegheny mountains, 18 miles north of here, is now viewed with less alarm and apprehension than at any other time since his arrival in this locality.

"His brother, P. A. Schwab, a merchant of this city, in company with his wife, returned late this afternoon from Loretto, where he spent Sunday. Direct communication either by wire or telephone to the mountain village is very hard to be had, and all day a response to a perfect deluge of inquiries was sought, but without result.

"The attending physicians have not issued a bulletin or given any definite information to a late hour this evening other than that their patient is only slightly ill and needs complete rest at a place where absolute quiet may be had. During the day Mr. Schwab was driven to Cresson, a distance of seven miles, and seemed much invigorated by the trip.

"P. A. Schwab says that the story about his brother intending to resign as president of the United States Steel corporation is entirely unfounded and that if is merely his intention to take a vacation in Europe, just as J. Pierpont Morgan has just done, for the benefit of his health and much needed recreation."

PERKINS SAYS IT'S NONSENSE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—"There is nothing unusual about Mr. Schwab's proposed trip to Europe," said George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan & Co. tonight. "It is his usual tour, which he has been accustomed to take at this time of the year. His last trip, a year ago, was begun at this time, when the strike was settled and the works of the company were in good running order. Upon this occasion everything is going along in shipshape style. The talk of his resignation is the veriest kind of nonsense."

U. S. STEEL OFFICIALS DENY SCHWAB TALES

Business in Such Condition That He Can Take Long Vacation If He So Desires.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Rumors alleging that for one reason or another President Schwab is about to retire from the United States Steel Corporation stubbornly persist in the Wall street community. Most of them come from out-of-town sources. The most circumstantial story yet printed appeared today under a Pean-sylvania date line. It was to the effect that Mr. Schwab, on the advice of his physician, has decided to retire indefinitely from business and will leave at once for a more agreeable climate abroad. There is the tiniest grain of truth in this.

Mr. Schwab will go abroad for a vacation. Your correspondent is authorized to say, however, on the authority of one of the highest officials of the United States Steel Corporation that these rumors about Mr. Schwab's health have, in the main, been pure fabrications. The state of his health is not such as to cause either himself or his friends any uneasiness. Mr. Schwab may be said officially to be resting. He has been working hard for two or three years, harder than he ever worked before, and without any vacation to speak of. The present condition of the iron and steel trade makes it possible for him to take it easy for a little while, which is precisely what he is doing. This same official of the combine says that Mr. Schwab's resignation has never been mentioned, or even intimated officially.

A member of the firm of J. P. Morgan is most emphatic in his denials that there is anything seriously the matter with Mr. Schwab. He says that he, himself, insisted that Mr. Schwab should take a vacation because, after a long stretch of hard work, he needed a rest; but, so far as being physically ill, Mr. Schwab could resume his duties tomorrow. All of the officials of the steel combine appear to be highly indignant over the stories that have been circulated.

WOMAN IS HELD UP IN HER BEDROOM

Masked Robber Compels Her to Give Up Her Diamonds, Worth $3,000, and Escapes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Frederick W. Prentiss, a leading society woman, wife of E. W. Prentiss, president of the Hayden-Clinton National bank, was the victim this afternoon of one of the boldest robberies ever perpetrated in this city.

She was the possessor of the finest collection of jewels in the city. This afternoon a roughly-dressed man, wearing a cap with the word "inspector" on its peak, gained admittance to the residence, through the maid, whom he told that he had been sent to investigate some trouble with the gas pipes. Going upstairs to the apartments of Mrs. Prentiss, he covered his face with a handkerchief and entered her room.

Drawing a revolver, he commanded Mrs. Prentiss to give up her jewels. He forced her to hold up her hands while he pulled her rings from her fingers.

He cut the purse from her belt and took her watch. He also secured a valuable necklace and numerous other trinkets.

Filling his pockets with valuables from the dresser, he backed from the door still covering Mrs. Prentiss with the revolver. By the time she had recovered from her fright the robber was gone from the house. The jewels are valued at over $3,000.

SHOT HIS BRIDE.

Play With a Revolver Resulted Seriously at Scottdale.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Peter Nelson, an employe of the American Sheet Steel Company here, shot his young bride this evening. The woman picked up a revolver and pointing it at her husband playfully remarked, "I've got the drop on you now." She laid the weapon down and Nelson picked it up with the remark, "Now the joke is on the other side." The weapon was discharged, the ball striking Mrs. Nelson just below the right breast.

The woman is in a serious condition, but physicians think she will recover. Mrs. Nelson is a daughter of Elijah J. Webb, a prominent merchant of this place.

PENNSYLVANIA'S OFFER ACCEPTED BY CITIZENS

Will Rebuild Old Bridge Free of Cost, Until Plans Are Ready.

DR. M'NEILL WAS ACTIVE

Through Him, Negotiations Were Brought to Successful End—Windy War With Director McCandless. Work to Begin in Near Future.

The Lincoln avenue bridge will be built and open for traffic in three weeks. That is the promise made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The bridge committee appointed by the citizens of the Twenty-first ward heard the news last night and immediately adopted the resolution of assent, on which the beginning of the work by the railroad depended. The chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, W. H. Brown, will be notified of the committee's action today and 24 hours thereafter, if Mr. Brown keeps his promise, the work of repairing the old bridge will be commenced. Councilman George W. McNeil will send Mr. Brown the dispatch telling him that the committee is satisfied.

Railroad's Proposition.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company had already come to this agreement with Dr. J. Guy McCandless, the director of the department of public safety, but Dr. McNeil denied Dr. McCandless' right to make this agreement without the consent of the city councils, and he and Dr. McCandless had some words over the matter earlier in the day. Having failed to get any satisfaction out of the director, Dr. McNeil put himself into communication with Pennsylvania railroad officials, and the upshot was that yesterday he received the following telegram from Chief Engineer Brown:

"The Pennsylvania railroad desires to submit through you, to the residents of the Twenty-first ward, the following proposition: That the Pennsylvania railroad will repair the old bridge, so as to make it passable for electric cars and all vehicle traffic over it, the work to be completed in three weeks; that the Pennsylvania railroad will duly arrange to secure the construction and erection of the new Lincoln avenue bridge, when the city councils pass the ordinance, relating to the changes in the bridge made necessary by the construction of the Pennsylvania railroad's branch railroad down Negley run, and without any addition to the cost of the bridge, as provided in existing contracts. If this is satisfactory to your committee and the city authorities, we will commence the work within 24 hours and complete the same within the specified time."

The committee met last night in Hays Smith's drug store, No. 801 Lincoln avenue, and Dr. McNeil showed the dispatch. The committee met privately and after a session of two hours, adopted the following resolution:

It Was Accepted.

"Resolved, That we accept the proposition of W. H. Brown, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, to repair the present Lincoln avenue bridge, making it passable for electric cars, vehicles, etc., until such time as the councils of Pittsburgh shall pass the ordinances, made necessary by the changes incurred in the construction of the proposed Lincoln avenue bridge, such changes having been made necessary and being deemed advisable, that the Pennsylvania railroad may construct its tracks beneath the bridge."

It is understood that the firm to which the city let the contract for building the new bridge, Cronin & O'Herron, has assigned the contract to the Pennsylvania railroad; that the firm had spent $33,000 already on the bridge, and that the railroad made this amount good, and allowed the contractors something for the profit they expected to make on the building of the structure.

Dr. McNeil has no objection to the Pennsylvania taking over the contract of Cronin & O'Herron, but he does say that Dr. McCandless had no right to consent to the assignment, without consulting the councils. His feelings were so strong on the subject that he and Dr. McCandless had a wordy war on the fourth floor of City hall yesterday afternoon, that came near terminating in blows.

The little fracas happened at 3:45 o'clock, just as Director McCandless was leaving his office in City hall. There were only two eye-witnesses to the talking bout near the director's office, but quite a number of persons watched the two men arguing on City hall steps.

The trouble was all caused by the announcement made yesterday afternoon by Director McCandless that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had been given the privilege of repairing the Lincoln avenue bridge, so that it can be used by the residents of the Twenty-first ward until a new bridge is built.

Dr. McNeil just came out of the deed register's office as Director McCandless was preparing to leave his office. The two met face to face on the threshold of the office of the director of public works.

Some Warm Talk.

"How do you do, sir?" said Dr. McNeil. Director McCandless did not reply, but held out his hand.

"I don't know whether I want to shake hands with you or not?" said McNeil, as he withdrew a short distance from the outstretched palm.

"Well, I don't care a da—m whether you do or not," replied the director of public works as he darted for the elevator. Dr. McNeil followed him talking all the way through the hall.

The two men talked at the elevator entrance, and were engaged in a heated conversation, when the elevator took them on and shot down to the first floor of the building.

They walked out on the steps, where the argument was continued and grew warmer every minute. Dr. McNeil was demanding explanations from the director, which he refused to make, and then uncomplimentary remarks were exchanged.

For fully 15 minutes the two men talked and argued on the steps of city hall and finally when Director McCandless started away he was followed to Fifth avenue by Dr. McNeil, who kept firing a line of questions at him that the director refused to answer.

McCandless Flies.

At the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street the conversation was continued for some minutes, until Director McCandless withdrew and walked down Fifth avenue, and Dr. McNeil went to the other side of the street to take a car for the East End.

When seen after his talk with Director McCandless, Dr. McNeil said: "This is just a continuation of the former bout I had with Dr. McCandless. I have not had an opportunity to see him since, and I have just had the pleasure of telling him I know a few things that are still unpublished about the Lincoln avenue bridge matter.

"Director McCandless has allowed the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to take the contract from the original contractors for the erection of the new bridge, without even giving the slightest notification to the city. This is not according to law and he will be compelled to explain his action later.

"The principal business I had with Director McCandless today was to find out why he has given the railroad company the privilege of repairing the bridge. He refused to give me his reason for so doing.

"The original contract for putting up the new bridge was given to Cronin & O'Herron, and I believe the director has allowed this firm to give it over to the railroad."

returned to the Newport reading room, where he shot himself.

Though Mr. Remington and Miss Van Alen have, so far as is known, not exchanged a word since he has been here, they have had a correspondence in the form of notes. How many of these have been sent back and forth cannot be learned and neither will it ever be known what was their tenor. Mr. Remington received a note on Sunday that, it is stated, came from Miss Van Alen, and it is said at his boarding house it greatly depressed him. All the rest of the day and this morning he sat around the piazzas with his head in his hands.

Mr. Van Alen broke the news to Miss Van Alen as gently as possible, but she was overcome and restoratives had to be administered. She retired at once and it is doubtful if she will be able to leave the house for some days.

Mr. Remington purchased the revolver this morning at the place of business of James Southwick & Co. in Thames street. He looked at several weapons, examining each very closely. He inquired particularly into the method of discharging them and finally asked if the one he had selected would shoot to kill. It was about 11 o'clock when he visited Southwick's, before he had been to the Casino, and consequently before he had taken his walk to the vicinity of the Van Alen villa.

Engagement Broken Some Time.

Mr. Van Alen, through his representative, tonight states that though an engagement did exist between his daughter and Mr. Remington, it had really been broken for some time. This action was taken because Miss Van Alen and those most interested in her observed that Mr. Remington's mind had become unbalanced. It is said that while this would not necessarily appear to those who might meet Mr. Remington in the ordinary matters of business or of social intercourse, Mr. Van Alen states that it was very clearly marked in letters of Mr. Remington to Miss Van Alen and to other members of the family. It is stated that some of these letters were incoherent, and that some of their terms and expressions used were most extraordinary and unusual. In some of them members of Miss Van Alen's family, it is further explained, were spoken of in a manner quite undignified and altogether unreasonable.

Mr. Remington was a faultless dresser, and this afternoon he was quite as well attired as usual. He wore an outing suit of gray flannel striped with white, a sailor hat and white canvas shoes. Mr. Remington intended to return to New York last night, and in fact had engaged a stateroom and had purchased a ticket. He changed his mind, though, and ordered his ticket disposed of.

Had Wide Acquaintance.

Mr. Remington had a wide acquaintance in New York and Newport society, and for years past had been invited to the prominent parties at the house of Mrs. William Astor. Last December there were rumors in New York that Mr. Remington and Miss May Van Alen were engaged, but this rumor was strenuously denied by both parties. Miss Van Alen, who had taken a house in New York for the winter, suddenly changed her mind, rented the house and soon after Christmas sailed for Europe, passing the winter in Paris with her sister and Mr. James J. Van Alen, her father.

About the middle of April Mr. Remington sailed for Europe and on April 22 sent a private cablegram to a friend in New York announcing that he was engaged to Miss Van Alen. Previous to his departure he stated to this same friend that if legal formalities could be overcome the marriage would take place in Paris. It was afterwards found that a six months' residence in France was necessary to make the marriage legal in that country, and then it was proposed to have the marriage performed in London, but owing to preparations for the coronation, that fell through, and it was decided that Newport would be the scene of the wedding.

Beginning of the End.

Mr. Van Alen and his daughters arrived in Newport the second week in July, and had been here but a very short time when rumors began to be circulated, first, that there never had been any engagement between Mr. Remington and Miss Van Alen, and again that their engagement was broken off. All these rumors were met with denials by Mr. Remington, and the fact that he was at the wedding of Robert J. Collier to Miss Sara Van Alen, put at rest for a while such rumors.

It will be remembered that the Collier-Van Alen marriage celebrated at Wakehurst on Saturday, July 26, was witnessed by about 10 persons, Mr. Remington being there and also at the unpublished mass following at St. Mary's church. People in society have remarked that at recent social gatherings where both Miss Van Alen and Mr. Remington appeared, they were not together at all, and that seemed to strengthen the rumor that all was off between them.

BROTHER THINKS HIS MIND WAS UNBALANCED

Ascribes Disappointment in Private Affairs—Notable Antecedents and Social Alliances.

E. F. Remington was greatly shocked when he received a telegram at the Duquesne hotel yesterday evening at about 6:30 o'clock from a friend at Newport saying that his brother had died suddenly. He only learned the details of the death in the offices of The Gazette some time later. At this he immediately telegraphed the friend at Newport to take charge of the body and left at 9 o'clock last night for Newport.

Mr. Remington said that while he had not yet made any arrangements he believed that the body would be taken to the old home of the family at Williamsport for interment. He could assign no reason for his brother's rash act, except that he believed that recent disappointment in his brother's private affairs had unbalanced his mind.

"He is the last man whom I should ever have thought would do such a thing," said he, "and he could not have done it in his right senses."

The father and mother of the Remingtons are both dead and the Pittsburgh brother is the only immediate relative who survives R. R. Remington. While in Pittsburgh E. F. Remington has his residence at the Hotel Schenley.

Robert Reading Remington was born at Williamsport, Pa., 42 years ago. His father was the late Edward Remington of Philadelphia and his mother was a daughter of the late Judge Reading of New Jersey. She was the great granddaughter of John Reading, who was the colonial governor of New Jersey, and through this ancestor he became eligible for membership in the Society of Colonial Wars.

By profession Mr. Remington was a lawyer, having been admitted to the bar in Philadelphia in 1885. Soon after that period he went to Pittsburgh to practice his profession and by chance became interested in the advertising business and with his brother, Edward P. Remington, formed the firm of Remington Bros. Several years later he went to New York to take charge of a branch there, afterwards becoming sole proprietor of the business.

Of Old Families.

Mr. Remington was related to the Stockions of Boston and the Morrisses of Philadelphia. He was a cousin of Mrs. Cristopher Robert (nee) Remington, through whom he was introduced in Newport about 10 years ago, at the time that Mrs. Robert was very prominent in society there. Through the marriage of his cousins, the Misses Chamberlin, to two brothers of the Chandler family, he was related by marriage to the Astors, the Chandlers being fourth in descent from the original John Jacob Astor.

He was educated at Lafayette college and by private tutors, and was the eldest son of the family. From 1884 to 1887 R. R. Remington spent most of his time in New York and Philadelphia, being engaged in business in those cities. He and his brother, E. F. Remington, then established the firm of Remington Bros. in Pittsburgh and were equal partners till June, 1890, when R. R. Remington sold his interest to his brother and took charge of the office in New York.

Business Career.

In the most exclusive New York society R. R. Remington has been a prominent figure. For the several years he was in Pittsburgh he was received in the most prominent social circles and was a regular attendant at the balls, cotillions and entertainments given at the Pittsburgh and Duquesne clubs.

Robert Reading Remington was quite a handsome man, about five feet 10 inches in height, rather slightly built, with dark hair and eyes, black mustache and strong caste of features. He was rather quiet and thoughtful in his demeanor and at the same time polite and agreeable. He did not seek to make many friends among the men in society, but was most attentive to his business and was rated as a decidedly successful business man.

It is said that it was mainly owing to the efforts of R. R. Remington that the business of the firm was so prosperous. He was known among his acquaintances as a man of exceptionally good habits and high moral character. He has been to Pittsburgh but little since he sold out his interest in the firm of Remington Bros.

NEW MAN FOR PIRATES.

Sebring, Worcester's Right Fielder, Will Get a Trial and Promises to Make Good.

BOSTON, MASS., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—James C. Sebring, right fielder of the Worcester baseball team, is to report to the Pittsburgh team of the National league immediately after the close of the Eastern league season.

Sebring goes to the Pittsburgh club on trial and will probably wear a Pittsburgh uniform in the closing games of the National season. If he "makes good," as it is believed, a contract for next season calling for considerably more money than he is now getting will be submitted for his signature. Worcester will get a stipulated price in any case and if Sebring "makes good," will get double the amount.

Mustache and Skirts.

A man with a mustache, smoking a cigarette, dressed in complete woman's attire, was arrested last night in Penn avenue by Officer James Delahanty and locked up in No. 3 police station as a suspicious person. He was unable to explain his reason for being dressed in woman's clothing. He will be arraigned for a hearing this morning before Police Magistrate J. V. McMasters.

ROOT KNOCKED OUT IN HOT RING BATTLE

Gardner Finds Weak Spot and Pounds Victory Out of Game Opponent's Stomach.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Aug. 18.—George Gardner of Lowell, Mass., tonight decisively defeated Jack Root of Chicago by knocking him out in the 17th round of a fight remarkable for speed and gameness under punishment shown by both men.

Gardner showed a knowledge of Root's weak spot—his stomach—and disregarding Root's left jabs, which found his face time and again, devoted most of his attention to Root's stomach.

Gardner was very tired in the 12th and 13th rounds, but came again in the 15th. Half a dozen rights and lefts squarely in the pit of the stomach brought Root to his knees near the ropes, the gong saving him.

Root went down again in the 16th from a left hook on the chin, which all but put him out. The end came in the next round. Gardner rushed his man to the ropes, planted his left and right to the stomach and the latter went down gasping for breath. Root got up, only to go down again. As he struggled to his feet Gardner was on him like a flash. Gardner worked his right and left like piston rods on Root's ribs, and the latter sank slowly to his knees. Then he rolled over on his back, and, though he was not out, was evidently utterly unable to defend himself. His seconds saved him further punishment by throwing up the sponge.

Both men were severely punished. Root's left hand was shattered in the second round, when he landed a left hook on the back of Gardner's neck, and was of little use to him from that time on.

Men and women, young and old, of every rank in life, freely admit that they are more conscious of overtaxed nervous strength in the hot weather than at any other season.

When such a condition is experienced, Paine's Celery Compound affords advantages and results that no other remedy can offer with honesty. It vigorously cleanses the blood and regulates the tardy circulation. It strengthens and encourages the kidneys and enables them to filter from the blood all waste and morbid matters; it secures strong, firm nerves, gives sweet and natural sleep to the nerve-tired and brain-weary. In a word, Paine's Celery Compound is a true summer life giver and health-builder. Mr. E. M. Stephenson, of the American Baptist Publication Society, 177 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., says:—

"I used Paine's Celery Compound for an acute attack of nervous prostration at a time when I had a large number of engagements ahead. I took it according to directions, and kept on till two bottles had been used. All trembling, throbbing, and vertigo disappeared the first week. I kept on with my engagements after that week and gained all the time. From the start my appetite improved, and I assimilated my food and increased in weight. The Compound strengthened my voice also, preventing weariness in speaking and singing. A very noticeable effect was the strengthening of the eyes, making it easy to read on the trains."

Why Many People Buy Pianos At Hamilton's in Vacation Season.

Which shall it be? Take a vacation trip or buy a piano? A great many people have been deciding this important question lately. The special reductions in prices of pianos and other musical instruments at Hamilton's this week have had much to do with bringing the question up for decision. It is evident from our sales that in a very large number of instances the refined and lasting pleasures to be derived from having a piano in the home—pleasures which are shared by one's family and friends—outweighed the fleeting and somewhat uncertain satisfaction to be had from a vacation trip.

Just at this time, too, Hamilton's are offering a number of fine pianos at one-third and more below the regular prices. It is not at all surprising, therefore, that many people, who had thought of waiting a while longer, are taking advantage of the present exceptional opportunity and are buying their pianos now for considerably less money than they expected to have to pay. It is hardly necessary to add that these instruments are all of good, standard makes and in every way worthy. The priceless reputation of this old reliable Music House, which, by the way, is much the largest in the State, is too jealously guarded to permit the sale of any unsatisfactory or undesirable instrument at any price whatsoever.

It is a source of genuine pride to this house that every year we sell scores of pianos by correspondence. And in spite of this fact we have never, in our 35 years in business, had one dissatisfied purchaser.

One of the happiest features of our recent clearance sale was the almost incredible number of people who ordered direct by mail, saying, "Mr. Hamilton, we feel we can fully trust your selection," etc., etc.; or, "We trusted you to select a piano for father years ago and never regretted having done so," etc.

We appreciate the confidence of such people too much to ever betray it. Indeed, if we err at all it is in sending even a better instrument than the one bargained for. It is thus we are pleased to honor the confidence of those who trust in us.

No matter whether you wish a moderate priced piano or the finest instrument that genius, money and skill can produce, you will find precisely what you want at Hamilton's, and in either case will be sure of getting full value for your money. It is probable, too, that among the wide range of special offerings you will find the very instrument you are looking for, and at a price much below the regular price. If you prefer, easy monthly payments will be arranged to suit your convenience.

Send for catalogue if you cannot come.

Today they will be on sale, special table under dome, 25c each.

Such plates without any special decoration usually sell for 50c.

Autumn and the Beginning of the Scholastic Period.

Thousands returning from mountain and seashore only to take up the important matter of getting the young people off to school. Freshmen, sophomores, seniors—all have to be carefully looked after in the matter of clothes—the girls more so than the boys. Even the very young girls taking up preparatory studies require special attention in the matter of dress.

This school occasion always receives special looking-after from us, and we herewith present some attractive numbers in new cloths for girls' school wear.

56 inches wide—$1.25 a yard—SOLID COLOR HABIT CLOTHS, correct weight for the unlined skirt. Navy, brown, garnet, tobacco, castor, gray and black. Three yards of this wide dependable goods cost but $3.75, and are ample for the skirt.

Let us go a little further and see what a suit will cost, the smartest kind of a school suit. For the waist, say, three yards of all-wool waistings in pretty autumnal colors, at 50c a yard, $1.50.

All told just $5.25 for a school suit that will be the envy of all the girls.

And we again call attention to several other new lines of Autumn goods that have had a previous mention:

52 inches wide, $1.25 a yard—This price of $1.25 a yard is all we ask for new COSTUME MELTONS, actually as handsome as $2 broadcloths. There are eleven new colorings and the always wanted black. The weight is commonly known as tailor weight. The color mixtures are medium light gray, oxford, dark wine, olive green, castor, light brown, beige and black.

42 inches wide, 65c a yard—At this price of 65c a yard we have TWEED DRESS FABRICS, in gray and white, blue and white, and brown and white. They are very stylish and make up handsomely.

Three New Styles Women's Walking Suits.

Three dashing styles for autumn wear, just arrived yesterday. We'll tell you of them briefly. Won't you see them at your earliest convenience? They are really worth a special trip.

Norfolk Coat Walking Suit of Scotch mixtures, green being prominent. And let us say there is going to be a run on green this fall. The coat is a three-quarter Norfolk. This length having been given a trial the past Summer, it is now firmly established. The coat is finished with two patch pockets and velvet collar. Seven-gore flare skirt with straps to match box pleats of coat. $25.

Norfolk Jacket Suit in the new snowflake material, a splendidly suggestive material for Pittsburg. As a matter of fact, it should be confined to this city. Jacket is finished with stitched belt and stitched cuffs of plain black material. Skirt is of the 7-gore style with stitched bands to match jacket. $30.

Blouse Walking Suits of blue and white, and black and white English Suitings. Fancy collars to the jackets, relieved by white stitching, and the pleats on skirts finished with same style of white stitching. $37.50.

New and Handsome Walking Skirts for Young Ladies.

Advance Autumn styles, of course.

Black corduroy and a remarkably pretty plum blue that seems to have been prepared especially for the fancy of young ladies.

These new Walking Skirts come in lengths from 35 to 44 inches.

Every young lady who goes off to school shortly should have one of these corduroys in her trunk. Either color, $16.

New Felt Outing Hats.

The Millinery Department at present presents the somewhat singular appearance of an anomaly—Summer and Autumn side by side.

Here are advance styles of new Fall Outing Hats of that popular material, felt, in white and many marvelous color combinations and trimmings.

Regular beauties for early Fall wear in a range of prices from $3.50 to $8.

Here, again, are Summer Hats, handsome as they can be made, wearable yet for many weeks, and the prices a mere trifle.

Odd Pieces of Real Shell.

Half Prices.

Bonnet Pins, Neck Combs, Side Combs, Hair Pins.

Good colors and nice shapes. Too much of a variety to give prices in detail.

A Good Toilet Soap 1c a Cake.

We recently run across a little (to us) lot of good Toilet Soap, which retails regularly for 5c a cake.

Today we will sell it for a penny a cake, with this proviso—not more than 10 cakes to any one person.

Half Prices for Sponges.

Odd sizes and irregular shapes, but the best sponges that grow.

About 200 all told, and they will be sold for half regular prices.

There are Sponges for shaving, bath, slate, baby, carriage and general cleaning.

MORROW GOES AFTER RECORDER ON STATEMENT

Figures J. O. Brown Says He Got from Him Are Repudiated.

"ARE SOME ODD ERRORS"

Official Explanation of Why City Money Lies Idle in Certain Banks Is Torn to Shreds by the Assistant Controller.

It is written somewhere that men not infrequently fall into pitholes dug by themselves. Pittsburgh's acrobatic recorder, Joseph O. Brown, has done this with marvelous agility. Not many hours ago he made an effort to give the public an "accurate" and "true" report of how the great city of Pittsburgh is accumulating interest on its "unexpended money," that is, the surplus left over and above the expenditures, and how "available improvement money" is being judiciously cared for.

This report was intended to be a gentle slap at Controller Larkin for demanding what is being done with municipal cash, lying in cold storage in some favored banking institutions. The accommodating boss of city affairs explains that his "statement" is based on figures, furnished him by Assistant City Controller E. S. Morrow, and intending to throw dust in the public eye, by using the name of a competent city official. Mr. Morrow, however, repudiates his superior officer's statement by a wholesale onslaught on this official document.

Found Some Odd Errors.

"In the statement attributed to Recorder Brown this morning," Mr. Morrow said, yesterday, "there are some odd errors." To better appreciate Mr. Morrow's judicious compilation of facts as against Recorder Brown's harum-scarum deductions, the public should be acquainted with the facts referred to by Mr. Morrow.

Recorder Brown draws his conclusions from various itemized accounts, each of which are numbered. For instance Item No. 1," says the recorder, "interest and tax on city loans to the amount of $545,025 50, is sinking fund money and properly accounted for." Mr. Morrow's curt reply is: "In item No. 1, he says (Recorder Brown), is sinking fund money, whereas it in no manner forms any part of the sinking fund. It is simply the interest due on the city debt, computed at the beginning of the year and paid, but by the city treasurer at the stated intervals, when it becomes due." Thus is the recorder given plain facts. There are more of these plain facts all compiled for fair minds. The next exception of Mr. Morrow's is to item No. 17, which the recorder avers is in control of the law department pending litigation. This item is for $21,702 61.

"As to item No. 17," says Mr. Morrow, "the fact is that this is an appropriation made at the beginning of the year on the certificate of the prothonotary to cover judgment obtained against the city during the preceding year."

Mr. Brown claims that item No. 91, water bond fund of 1895, amounting to $480,309 75, is practically covered by existing contracts for water mains that are being put down. Mr. Morrow nails this as follows:

Not for Water Mains.

"Item No. 91 is not covered by contracts for water, but is reserved for Highland reservoir No. 2 and two engines for Brilliant pumping station. From what the engineers and officials of the Mercantile Trust Company have said the amount reserved for the payment of Highland reservoir No. 2 will be insufficient and it may puzzle the recorder and the director to find enough money to pay for the work on the reservoir."

Mr. Morrow drives a telling blow at Item No. 94. There is a story connected with this. The item is a remnant of the bond issue of 1895, amounting to over $80,000, to be used for the purchase of a fire boat. The timber to construct the boat is yet green in the woods. Mr. Brown claims the item was for the purchase of an engine house in the First ward, the surplus to be used for the construction of a fire boat, "which it has been decided not to build and equip at present."

Concerning this $80,000 Mr. Morrow says: "Item No. 94 he refers to was for the construction of a fire boat. It hasn't been ordered in all the years since 1895, when the bonds were voted for it."

Mr. Brown says that item No. 102, for the department of charities, is covered by contract for the erection of new buildings, etc.

This item is only $112,000, and some odd cents. Here, again, the assistant controller differs from the recorder. Concerning this item he says:

"Item No. 102, $112,000, is not entirely covered by new buildings in the department of charities. The buildings contracted for and under construction will cost when completed $231,397, of which about $162,000 has been paid. He mentions $112,000 as the balance in the fund, which is ill-sufficient."

No Repairs Allowed.

The recorder declares that an item numbered 104 "is an unexpended balance that will be used from time to time for repairs." This item is just a trifle over $6,000. Mr. Morrow, however, declares that this item cannot be used for any other purpose than that for which it was appropriated, viz., the laying of water mains.

Recorder Brown declares that an item indented No. 105, amounting to $681,000, is to be used for the purchasing of the Mawhinney street properties to be annexed to Schenley park, and also for the purchase of the polytechnic school site.

Mr. Morrow states that this item "is for the purchase of the Mawhinney street properties only and the extension of Carnegie institute, and no part of this sum can be used for a polytechnic school."

Other Faults Found.

An item numbered 106, amounting to $134,580, Recorder Brown declares, is for improvements, whereas Mr. Morrow states that it "is for land additions to Highland park."

The small item of $44,506 65, declares Recorder Brown, is covered by shelter houses and improvements in Highland park, for which contracts have been let, and will be exhausted some time in October. This item is numbered 113. Mr. Morrow concludes his remarkable statement as follows:

"I know of no contracts for shelter houses to be paid out of item No. 113. The same is true of appropriation for the South Side parks.

"I hardly agree with the recorder that the entire fund will be exhausted by October."

Battleship Maine In Dry Dock.

Officers expressed the opinion that the Maine would probably score an average of 19 knots.

POLITICAL TALK AT SAGAMORE HILL

LEADING MEMBERS OF CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE PRESENT.

Edward J. Sullivan, a New York Catholic, Tells President His Church People Approve Philippine Policy—Dr. Rixey Leaves.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Congressmen Babcock of Wisconsin, Hull of Iowa, and Overstreet of Indiana were the guests of President Roosevelt at dinner tonight. Mr. Babcock is chairman of the Republican congressional committee. Mr. Overstreet is secretary to the committee, and Mr. Hull is chairman of the advocacy committee of that body. They discussed the coming fall campaign and left on a late train tonight for New York. This is Mr. Overstreet's second visit in two weeks.

The president's guests at luncheon were Francis Travers of Oyster Bay and Maj. John C. Crane of New York.

Edward J. Sullivan, a New York merchant, today discussed Philippine affairs with the president. Mr. Sullivan is prominent in the Catholic church. He assured the president that his policy regarding church affairs in the archipelago met with the approval of a large majority of the Catholics of the country.

The president today received an invitation to attend the anniversary celebration of the Beth Israel hospital of New York, next January. The invitation was delivered to President Roosevelt by Joseph Borrhardt, superintendent of the institution. It is not likely that the president will be able to accept the invitation.

Dr. Rixey, surgeon general of the navy, and Mrs. Rixey, who were the guests of the president yesterday, left today for Washington.

Just before leaving Oyster Bay on the 10:10 train the president's congressional callers said they had a very satisfactory conference with the president on the general features of the coming campaign.

"I told the president," said Mr. Babcock, "that Wisconsin would return Mr. Spooner to the senate, and would heartily indorse his administration."

"And the president told me," added Mr. Hull, "that he was much pleased over the way Iowa stood up for Cuban reciprocity."

PRESIDENT TO HAVE NEW PERSONAL DOCTOR

Dr. George A. Lung, U. S. N., Slated for Place—Has Most Distinguished Service Record.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Dr. George A. Lung, U. S. N., will within a short time be assigned to duty as surgeon to President Roosevelt. He will succeed in that position Dr. John Urle, who was recently made assistant chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery.

Dr. Lung, who is one of the best known officers in the medical corps of the navy, is at present on waiting orders at his home in Canandaigua, N. Y. His last duty was on the Asiatic station. He has a splendid service record. He was appointed to the navy in 1888. His promotion has been rapid and he was appointed to his present grade, that of surgeon, in 1900.

In 1899 he was attached to the cruiser Philadelphia and was with the expedition in which Lieut. P. Lansdale and Ensign Monaghan were killed by warriors of the Samoan chief Mataafa. Dr. Lung received a letter of commendation from Secretary Long for his gallant conduct on this occasion. During the Chinese campaign he was a member of the relief expedition which marched to Pekin.

The post of surgeon to the president is one of the most desirable in the service.

BEQUESTS TO CHARITY.

Senator McMillan's Will Disposes of Property Estimated at From $6,000,000 to $10,000,000.

DETROIT, Aug. 18.—The will of the late Senator James McMillan, disposing of an estate variously estimated at from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000, was filed for probate today. It contains the following public bequests:

To the Home of the Friendless, the Woman's Hospital and Foundling's home, the Children's Free Hospital association and the Little Sisters of the Poor, $1,000 each; to Grace hospital, $60,000.

The Jefferson avenue home in this city is left to his widow and she is also given a life interest in the Eagle Head property at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. Gifts of $1,000 each are made to his son-in-law, daughters-in-law and nephews and nieces. Three of his former confidential men, George M. Black, Charles Moore and Richard Rice, are left $5,000 each. All other employes in the Detroit office are left $250 each. Bequests of $100 and $200 are made to all the family servants.

All the rest of his personal estate is bequested to the senator's wife and to his sons, W. C. McMillan, Philip McMillan and Francis W. McMillan, and to their survivors, as trustees, to hold until the death of the last survivor of the senator's children, unless they see fit to sooner terminate the trust.

The trustees are to pay to the senator's wife during her lifetime one-half of the net income of the trust property, less the amount of income which shall be derived from certain property valued at about $500,000, heretofore given to his wife and the remainder to his children, W. C., Amy, Philip H. and Francis W. McMillan, and to his grandchild, Gladys McMillan.

NO CHILD. NO MARRIAGE.

Peter J. McNulty's Attorney Says Neither of Laura Biggar's Claims Is Recognized.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The Gazette representative saw Peter J. McNulty at his summer cottage tonight. He refused to discuss Laura Biggar's claims.

"All the information I have," he said, "is that which I have seen in the newspapers. The will has been probated and at present there is nothing further to do."

Counsellor John D. Hawkins, executor of the Bennett will, who refused to permit the burial of the child in the Bennett plot, was with Mr. McNulty.

"We do not recognize any marriage," he said. "Nor do we recognize that there was any child."

Oklahoma and Kansas People Are Wrestling With Deep, Dark Mystery—Explanation Found in Records of Several Insurance Orders.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Guthrie, O. T., Aug. 18.—The efforts of officers and friends to locate Coda S. Morris of Madison and Emporia, Kan., who was supposed to have been killed at Orlando, near here, last Tuesday morning, have thus far proved futile and daily his sudden disappearance becomes more mysterious.

On Tuesday last a man claiming to be a loan agent and giving his name as John Cox purchased a coffin in Perry, O. T., had it shipped with 200 pounds of ice to Orlando, stating that Coda S. Morris of Madison had been killed in a runaway.

When the coffin arrived at Orlando Cox received it, broke the ice and placed it in the coffin and drove with it to a country graveyard on the Bocox farm near Orlando. He was supposed to have picked up the body of Morris en route. Immediately afterward Cox disappeared. A press account of his death sent out on Cox's statement reached Morris' friends in Kansas and telegrams of inquiry from them started an investigation.

Yesterday the officers of this county dug up the coffin, but all it contained was a two-pound piece of ice, no body evidently having been inclosed. There were at least 500 persons present to see the coffin opened. The failure to find the body of Morris only deepened the mystery, and telegrams have been dispatched everywhere, attempting to locate either Morris or Cox.

Morris carried insurance in the Modern Woodmen, Woodmen of the World and a number of other orders, aggregating policies for several thousand dollars.

One theory, that Cox and Morris were the same person, was shattered by the receipt of a picture of Morris here today which is entirely different from the description given of Cox, who was over six feet tall, smooth shaven and weighed about 180 pounds.

Relatives of Morris have arrived from Kansas to assist in the search. When buying a lot in the country cemetery Cox said Morris had died as the result of a runaway accident and later stated he died after a three days' heart trouble.

He employed W. N. Westfall and two sons to help him in burying the coffin, and as the ice made it heavy they never doubted but that it contained the body of Morris.

Cox requested that they make the top of the grave fit and keep it in good condition, as there would be a woman come to view it within the next two weeks.

He claimed to have telegrams from Mrs. Morris directing him in disposing of the body, but the telegrams have been proven false.

Cox claimed to be a loan agent placing loans on farms. He continually inquired the location of a country cemetery and finally went alone to the farm of John Bocox, where a lot was purchased in his private burying ground. He is described as an intelligent business man.

HORNER INDIGNANT.

Told a Prisoner That the Prosecutrix Would Have Been Justified in Killing Him.

William Topping of Wilkinsburg was fined $17.50 yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Miss May Burland, who conducts a restaurant at No. 705 Wood street, Wilkinsburg. The case was one of the most sensational ever heard in the borough, and before fining Topping Burgess Horner gave him a scathing lecture and said that if Miss Burland had shot Topping dead she would have been justified.

It was alleged that one evening last week Topping while eating in the restaurant told a companion that Miss Burland had had him arrested some months ago for entering her room at night, apparently with the intention of humiliating her. When she ordered him out of the restaurant it was alleged he stood in front of the building and called her vile names. Topping admitted to Burgess Horner that it was true that he had entered the young woman's room by climbing a porch at night, for which he was fined $87, which his mother paid, and out of respect for his mother the matter was suppressed at the time. Burgess Horner told Topping before allowing him to go that if he was ever brought before him again he would fine him $25 and send him to the workhouse for six months.

GUARD RIFLEMEN AWAIT THE DAWN TO SHOW METAL

Several Teams Delayed and Division Shoot Did Not Begin Yesterday.

SOME CHANGES ARE NOTED

Champion of Last Year Drops Out. New 1,000-Yard Range Almost Ready for Action—Gov. Stone Is Expected Friday.

By ROBERT WRAY,
Staff Correspondent.

Rifle Range, Mt. Gretna, Pa., Aug. 18.—It was nearly midnight when the last rifle team of the division arrived here, and went into camp. It had been ordered that the teams should report at the range early this morning and take up practice, but for some reason that will have to be explained later, only the teams of the Tenth, Fourteenth, Eighteenth and Sixteenth regiments came in on time this morning.

It has now been decided to hold the practice shoot tomorrow, the regimental competition on Wednesday morning and the skirmish practice in the afternoon of that day. On Thursday the skirmish match for the McClellan trophy will be shot and the brigade practice held. On Friday the three brigade teams will shoot for the handsome state trophy. At the close of the brigade match a team will be selected to represent the state at the 30th annual meeting of the National Rifle Association of America, which opens at Sea Girt, N. J., August 25. The team will consist of 12 men and three reserves will be selected from the best shots competing here. One team consisting of the regimental teams which makes the highest total score for the two practice matches, regimental match and the skirmish match will be augmented so as to consist of six men and one reserve. One team of six men and one reserve will be selected from the cavalry battalion, and this team will participate in the squadron matches.

Will Stay for Practice.

The teams will be kept here for practice after the present shoot and will go to Sea Girt on August 25. The state has made arrangements to subsist the teams and a cottage has been secured at Sea Girt for a mess room. The enlisted men while at the interstate shoot will be furnished with tents and cots.

For the first time in the history of the division the teams will try for bullseye at 1,000 yards. The marksmen have been furnished with the Kragg-Jorgensen service rifle. This new range is now being prepared by the employes of the state arsenal, and will be finished before sunset tomorrow evening.

During the week 12 matches will be shot. The regimental match will be contested at the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges. Seven shots per man will be allowed. The skirmish match will be the most exciting of the contests. The distance, five halts in advancing from 600 to 200 yards and five halts in retreating from 200 to 600 yards. The prize will be a silver trophy cup. Teams of 12 men and three reserves will shoot the brigade matches and the prize will be a solid silver loving cup, presented by the state. The cavalry match will be shot with the men dismounted. The prize is also a silver cup and in addition a Smith & Wesson revolver will be presented by Capt. J. S. Muckle of the naval reserve to the officer or enlisted man making the highest score in this match.

With the Service Arm.

The inspector of rifle practice match will be shot with the service arm, and a handsome prize will be given by Lieut.-Col. Millard Hunsicker of the United States Steel Corporation, who is now in Europe. Another match that will be shot for during the meeting will be revolver contests for officers and enlisted men, prizes for which have been offered by Lieut.-Col. L. F. Loree, ordnance officer of the division and president of the Baltimore & Ohio; Col. Edward E. Robbins, commissary general, and Lieut.-Col. Sanford C. Lewis.

Gov. Stone will present a handsome gold medal to the champion shot of the state on Friday.

There has been a number of changes in the make-up of the several teams since last year. The men are all confident, and it is the concensus of opinion here that some of the best shooting in the history of the guard will be done during the week. While the changes in the teams have not been numerous, many of the best shots of former years are not on the range this target season. Corporal W. H. Snyder of Company H, Eighteenth regiment, has replaced Sergeant E. B. Vaill of Company K. Sergeant B. T. Bliss takes the place of Sergeant Joel Miller of the Sixteenth team. Last year Sergeant Miller won the state championship and the team of the Sixteenth regiment carried off every individual prize but the regimental trophy. The team also represented the state at the Sea Girt matches.

Tenth Team Is Dangerous.

The team from the Tenth infantry is considered one of the most dangerous here. This team has been strengthened by the addition of Capt. Keller of Company A, who takes the place of Capt. Harry J. Watson, now an officer in the coast artillery, and Sergeant Harvey Anderson succeeds Sergeant H. H. Eberson. The only change in the team of the Fourteenth regiment is Lieut. Paul Wirtz, who takes the place of Capt. J. A. Risher.

The teams of the Eighth, Twelfth and Governor's troop have just arrived from Shenandoah. They were loudly cheered when they entered the camp. The men look as if the service which they have undergone is not the most pleasant of its kind. They talk freely of the situation in the anthracite country, and say that a serious outbreak may occur at any time, as the foreign miners are ripe for trouble.

Late tonight word was received that Adjt.-Gen. Stewart would arrive in camp in the morning. He is still on crutches from his accident of a year ago, but will stay in camp until the several contests are ended. He will then present the state trophy to the winning teams.

TO HOLD FIELD DAY.

Company D, Fourteenth Regiment, Plans Valuable Training.

Company D, Fourteenth regiment, will hold the first field day in its history at the regimental rifle range on Thursday of this week. The members will report at the armory at 8 o'clock in the morning in blue uniform and the entire day will be devoted to rifle practice and athletic events.

One of the features of the day will be a sham battle, which will be a fitting wind-up to the day's sport. Capt. Franklin Blackstone will present a handsome gold medal to the member attaining the highest general average score at the 200 and 500 yard ranges.

WILL ASK HANNA HERE LABOR DAY

GENERAL COMMITTEE DETERMINES TO INVITE THE SENATOR.

Pittsburgh Workingmen Will Visit Him in Cleveland and Extend the Invitation—Attorney General Knox Will Be Too Busy to Get Here.

The Labor Day executive committee, at a special meeting yesterday afternoon, decided to make an aggressive move to bring Senator M. A. Hanna of Ohio here as the principal speaker for the demonstration. A telegram was sent to the senator at his home in Cleveland, O., extending fraternal greeting and asking that a time and place be named when a representative committee of the Pittsburgh workingmen may meet him to discuss the urgent invitation of the Labor Day organization.

The telegram sent to the senator was signed by Chairman George W. Miller and Secretary John Fernau in behalf of the committee in charge. At the meeting yesterday all members of the executive committee, except Frank Greggs of the painters, were present.

Besides the other two officers of the committee mentioned, Vice President William Dodds, secretary of the United Mine Workers' organization in the Pittsburgh district and M. O'Sullivan, vice president of the International Metal Trades alliance, were present.

The committee decided that it would probably be a waste of effort to try to have Attorney General P. C. Knox come here to address the Labor Day demonstration. It was declared that the participation of Mr. Knox at the last Fourth of July celebration at Pittsburgh and the rush of the work at his office would almost, beyond doubt, make it impossible to get him to come here. The committee will, therefore, center its efforts to bring Senator Hanna here.

THE THREE RIVERS.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—River, at 6 p. m., 5.2 feet and falling. Weather clear and pleasant. An automobile which was lost off the H. M. The Virginia was delayed on her trip by fog and low water and she will not arrive until tomorrow. The W. W. O'Neil and Exporter passed up tonight with tows of empties.

SAND BARS IN THE WAY.

Steamboats Cannot Run Over Them, So They Quit.

Sand bars are beginning to show on the upper Ohio and the sudden fall in the stream has caused a suspension of navigation between Pittsburgh and Rochester. The steamer Kanawha, the best low water boat on the Ohio, came as far as Sewickley last night, but her agents, S. R. Patterson & Co., stated that, while every effort would be made to bring the steamer into port, the chances are that the boat would have to return to Rochester and reship her freight by railroad.

The steamer Keystone State turned back from Rochester last night to Cincinnati, reshipping freight and passengers on the Florence Belle, and the Queen City is not expected to come above Wheeling. The Bessie Smith had not put in an appearance up until late yesterday, and it is expected that she, too, will have to reship from Rochester. When the Bessie Smith and the Kanawha are unable to come above Sewickley it is a foregone conclusion that all boats will have to quit. There was only 3 feet of water at the Davis Island dam late yesterday, the river having fallen nineteen inches in a foot in 48 hours, a remarkably rapid decline in the time stated, considering the stage of the water.

News of the Rivers.

The towboat Jim Wood is at Brown's station receiving some repairs.

The Virginia took on 25 tons of steel at the Top mill for down the river.

The Tom Dodsworth is not expected to come above Wheeling and she may not get that far.

The J. B. Williams is below Memphis and the J. R. Finley is below Greenville, going south.

The Gertrude took away from Pittsburgh yesterday a large amount of merchandise for up river point.

Morgantown on the Monongahela river is said to be booming and the river packets expect to share in the prosperity.

Capt. J. A. Clow leaves Thursday for Buffalo and a tour of the lakes. He will be away from home for one month.

Capt. Isaac B. Williams, the local hull inspector, went yesterday to Armstrong's cork factory inspecting life preservers.

The towboats Sam Brown and Charles Brown tied up at Steubenville, being unable to proceed further on account of low water.

The shaft of the Tell City was found to be broken when she arrived at Louisville, and the John White left in her place for Evansville and way points.

The Virginia, when she reached Wheeling, had all the freight and people she could handle, and was 10 hours late on account of heavy business and scant stage.

Business was extremely quiet yesterday on the Monongahela wharf, made so by the non-arrival of the Ohio river packets. On Sunday no one doubted but that the Kanawha and Bessie Smith would arrive. There was not enough water, however.

John D. Williams, the pilot of the tug Edgar, that ran down and killed Walter Shifferstein at Evansville a few nights ago, was held guilty of gross neglect at the coroner's inquest. Williams is one of the oldest and best-known men at the wheel in the Ohio valley.

Unless there is a rise in the rivers the steamer Virginia will probably lay up at Wheeling on her arrival there Friday. She leaves Cincinnati today for this end of the Ohio river. The Queen City was the last Cincinnati boat to leave Pittsburgh, starting away from here last Wednesday.

The big boat and barge building plant of the Barretts at Levanna, O., has been kept busy building boats and barges lately. They have just launched two decked barges for Capt. Brownish, to be used at the railroad transfer at Joppa, Ill. Two government dump scows for Capt. W. L. Sibert at Pittsburgh have just been completed.

The passage of the last river and harbor bill authorized that an investigation be made of the Clear river, in reference to making the stream a navigable waterway, in accordance with instructions from the chief of the engineering department, this has been done and the engineers in charge of the Monongahela river, Capt. W. L. Sibert, will submit the result of the investigation to the engineering department.

OFFICERS FIGHT IN HALLWAY OF SAFETY PALACE

Policeman Strikes His Superior and Will Have to Answer in Court.

HAD JUST BEEN ON TRIAL

Police Board Had Inquired Into the Charge of Conduct Unbecoming an Officer — Thirty-Three Bluecoats Were Tried for Violating Laws.

That the police force is in a state of demoralization was evidenced yesterday morning when 33 of Pittsburgh's bluecoats were arraigned before the police board at the safety palace on various charges. This was an unprecedented number.

After the session of the police board Officer William McClintock, who had been tried on two charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, struck his superior, Garrett Crossan, a blow in the face at the Safety building. The unruly officer was immediately arrested and locked up on a charge of assault and battery. He was held by Police Magistrate D. J. McGarey for trial at court, and gave bail.

This incident happened on the fifth floor just outside of the court room. Lieutenant Crossan lodged a complaint against McClintock on Saturday night. He testified against the officer at the hearing and when he stepped outside of the court room McClintock walked up to him and said: "I'll give you all that is coming to you."

With this he struck the lieutenant a blow in the face. He was immediately grabbed by several officers and pushed into the elevator.

"You lied about me," said McClintock, "and you know it."

"You are under arrest," said Lieut. Crossan.

"No, I am not, and I will not stand for it," replied McClintock.

Fight in an Elevator.

While the officers and McClintock were coming down the elevator shaft a general scuffle took place. As the cage landed at the first floor Officer McClintock called for Detective Edward Barry to come to his assistance.

A number of the detectives hurried to the scene to stop the fight. Officer McClintock fought and was talking loudly. He declared that he had no right to be placed under arrest.

After the excitement Lieut. Crossan said that McClintock tried to create trouble in the streets with him on Saturday night. This is denied by McClintock.

The first case tried by the police board was the one of Detective William McElroy. He was asked to explain why he permitted J. H. Sisco to escape from him at Canton, O., when he was bringing him to this city. The detective related the details of the escape and positively denied that he had been drinking as he had been charged with. He told the board that his prisoner seemed so docile that he did not think he would make any attempt to get away.

Policeman P. G. Bailey was then summoned. He has a beat in Center avenue and on August 11, arrested George B. Armstrong, a son of a merchant in Center avenue, on a charge of violating a city ordinance. Armstrong was standing in front of the store.

Many Policemen Tried.

The officer ordered him to move on and Armstrong refused, saying that he had business there. The officer took him to No. 2 police station. Armstrong's father testified in the case and said that his son had no right to be arrested and Officer Bailey's action was outrageous.

Patrick Mangan and Edward Mallon were the next officers arraigned for a hearing. Both were charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and drunkenness. On August 11 they arrested Walter Grant, a newsboy at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street, for disorderly conduct. They beat the boy about the face and treated him in a shameful manner.

Walter Grant was not allowed to testify against these officers. Several citizens told the story of the officers' actions on that evening and the evidence was amazing. The policemen made an attempt to bolster their cases, but their stories were conflicting and both became rattled.

The hearings lasted three hours and there was an abundance of evidence taken in the cases. The decisions of the board will be handed down at the end of the week. Director A. H. Leslie was annoyed at the number of men who had been summoned for violations. He refused to discuss their conduct, but in a general way said:

"They are certainly a warm lot."

OSGOOD BLAMES SCHWAB.

Says Effort to Depose Him Followed His Refusal to Enter Steel Combine.

DENVER, COL., Aug. 18.—Two important features today of the fight for control of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company were the rejection by the Osgood faction of a proffer of compromise from the Gates faction and the filing of the answer to the Gates suit for an injunction against the officers in the federal court.

A meeting of the board of directors was to have been held today, but no quorum was present, as all but two of the directors who are supporting John C. Osgood in his efforts to retain control remained away.

In an affidavit Mr. Osgood states that he has been asked by John W. Gates, Charles M. Schwab and others to dispose of the company to the steel combine, and that the efforts to depose him followed his refusal.

GREAT LABOR FOR PRESBYTERIANISM

NATIONAL COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISTIC WORK TO PLAN IT.

Sessions Open This Morning at Winona Lake, Ind. — Plans Are Making for Greatest Revival in History of the Church in America.

A revival, such a one as the great Presbyterian body has not known in years, is the object of the sturdy followers of John Calvin at Winona Lake, Ind., this week. The national committee on evangelistic work opens a 10-days session there this morning.

The eyes of Presbyterians in all parts of America are riveted on this gathering, for out of it are to come great things for the faith. Presbyterian ministers of this section are particularly interested, inasmuch as it will mean larger work in their fields. The national committee proposes to have the Presbyterian faith felt in every nook and corner of this land before another twelvemonth.

It is proposed to raise $125,000 for evangelistic work over and above the generous offer of $25,000 donated by John H. Converse, chairman of the national committee on evangelistic work. At an expenditure of a trifle over $17,000 last year over 12,000 souls were led into the narrow way. It is argued that if $17,000 will win such a large number the good to be accomplished by $150,000 will arouse the entire church to action.

Some of the greatest preachers in the church will enter the evangelistic field this year. The work is not to be confined to the western states and small towns in the south, but it is proposed that ministers in large cities shall make unusual efforts this year, conduct evangelistic services wherever feasible and spare neither money nor energy to bring about the greatest revival in the history of the American church.

Among the Pittsburghers who will take an active part in this work are the Rev. Dr. J. P. Calhoun and H. J. Heinz. Both are members of the committee. Quite a number of ministers left here yesterday, however, to attend the conference. All said that just as soon as Dr. Calhoun returns arrangements will be made to carry on evangelistic work during the winter months.

TALKING ON NEW SYSTEM.

Clerks from Accounting Department of Baltimore & Ohio Are in City.

To study and discuss the details of the new system of the accounting department of the Baltimore & Ohio about 40 of the clerks in the department of accounting that concerns the operation of the road gathered at the Monongahela house yesterday. An all-day session was held and this morning the work will continue. Those in attendance represented every division of the greater Baltimore & Ohio system. Before the meeting is over it is expected that all will be thoroughly familiar with every detail of the system, which went into effect July 1.

JUBILARIAN MADE HAPPY

School Children Rejoice With Father Price on His Twenty-Fifth Anniversary as a Priest.

The silver jubilee of the Rev. Father Price, rector of St. James' Catholic church, West End, was celebrated yesterday with much enthusiasm by the congregation, and some 30 priests who were invited to be Father Price's guests. Father Price celebrated solemn high mass in the morning, and gave a banquet to his brother priests shortly after in the rectory.

In the evening there was a public demonstration in the Thaddeus Stevens school. The jubilarian was the recipient of a well-filled purse, and numerous other gifts, including a silver tea set, a smoking set, and several valuable pieces used in administering the sacraments.

The Rev. Father William Graham of St. Patrick's delivered the sermon at the mass in the morning. Father Price will take a vacation soon. The program outlined in yesterday's Gazette was carried out in full, the school children and the various sodalities attached to the church taking part.

DUSS CONCERT TO THE TEACHERS DREW BIG CROWD

Peculiar Tribute in New York to the Tourists Home from Europe.

SPECIAL MUSIC FOR THEM

Foster and Nevin Among the Composers on the Program—Pittsburgh Gazette March Has Its Initial Rendering—Swinging Melody a Hit.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 18.—One of the largest audiences that ever gathered in St. Nicholas Garden was there tonight to listen to the concert by the Duss band in honor of the Pittsburgh Gazette's teachers who have just returned from their European tour. The fact that it was to be the "Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph Night" had been extensively advertised and the attendance was larger than usual, although John S. Duss is used to facing an immense assemblage every evening. The fact that there was a party of young women from Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania in the city was generally known and curiosity to see them as well as to listen to the music of the Duss band had something to do with the size of the audience.

The Gazette's party did not go in a body to the garden. Tickets had been distributed by R. E. Johnston, Mr. Duss' manager, among the party, so that they could go to the garden at their convenience, but most of them were there before the first number began. The pretty girls that give corsage bouquets to every feminine patron of the garden were ready for the fair Pittsburghers with the sweetest and rarest roses.

Nothing Was Too Good.

The tall ushers took them to their seats and the midget saw that they had programs. There were extra decorations in the garden, one of the most noticeable being a banner on which was emblazoned the device familiar to Pittsburghers as the seal of their city.

The music was varied and enjoyable. Besides melodies by Stephen C. Foster and Ethelbert W. Nevin the band gave the first rendering in New York of another Pittsburgh composition that bids fair to become as popular here as the "Georgia Camp Meeting," which it resembles in some degree. The title of this new piece is "The Pittsburgh Gazette March." Mr. Duss helped to arrange the band parts himself, and the orchestration is capital. It carries the swinging melody through clearly and distinctly, with many embellishments to which the band did full justice.

Mr. Duss was evidently pleased when the march was encored and he played it again with even greater vigor than the first time. Every foot in the immense audience was beating time to the lively two-step measure and many persons who had not noticed the name of the selection on their program asked each other what it was.

Orders Will Come Thick.

The chances are that the Pittsburgh publishers of "The Pittsburgh Gazette March" will receive a great many orders from New York for copies of the music within the next week.

After the concert Mr. Duss met the teachers and asked them how they had enjoyed their trip to Europe as guests of The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph. He said he looked forward with much pleasure to his engagement with his band at Duquesne garden soon and hoped he would meet the young ladies there.

The occasion was a delightful one, socially and musically, and made a fitting wind-up of the European tour for those who were able to be present. Manager Johnston said afterward that "The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph Teachers European Excursion Night" was the most brilliant of the entire Duss engagement at St. Nicholas garden.

Gas Burns Thirty Years.

According to experts there is enough natural gas in the Philadelphia Company's wells to last Greater Pittsburgh 30 years. Now is the time for non-consumers to make a free contract. To all who apply this month the company will make connections and set meter free of charge. Gas is cheaper, cleaner, safer and better than coal, which will be dear this winter because of the miners' strike. Ask at 610 Wood street.

Burglars in Braddock—Mrs. Frederick Newman of Talbot avenue, Braddock, awakened at an early hour yesterday morning and found a strange man's hand on her face. The election is being held to determine whether the citizens are in favor of issuing $75,000 in bonds for the purpose of buying out the Bennett Water Company. The meeting was presided over by Burgess Edward Pfischner.

Used P. R. R. Tracks—Owing to a freight wreck on the Wheeling branch of the Baltimore & Ohio at Willock, the Cincinnati express No. 104 of that road was run into the Union station last evening. It came upon Pennsylvania tracks at Washington, Pa. A few months ago a connecting line running through Tylerdale, near Washington, joining the two lines, was built. No one was hurt in the wreck.

Park Contracts Let—City Recorder Brown and Director McCandless yesterday awarded contracts for 500 settees and 50 swings for the city parks. After the contracts were awarded it was discovered that the successful bidder had not complied with the specifications, and unless the firm receiving the contract guarantees to fill the same according to the specifications, the contract will be annulled and a new one let.

Took In New Members—Fifty-four new members have been added to the new Carriage Drivers' union of Pittsburgh, making the membership of the organization nearly 500. It represents every livery concern in the two cities. Besides bettering general working conditions a primary object is to stop Sunday work, and particularly to discourage the Sunday funeral. The union will have another meeting at East and First streets, Allegheny, next Sunday night.

Was Shot and Robbed—Henry Moyes, a salesman and collector for J. W. Scott & Co. of Pittsburgh, was robbed of $91, his watch and several other articles of value while driving on the road near Hite station Saturday. Moyes was also shot twice by the highwaymen, but as he carried a number of business cards and an order book in his breast pocket the force of the bullets were spent before they touched his body. Moyes is 57 years old and lives at Freeport. This is the third time he has been robbed within two years.

Police Struck a Tartar—Coulter Hurst, 19 years old, yesterday afternoon, while intoxicated, gave five Allegheny police and all the firemen of No. 5 engine company in Kerr street, the biggest job they ever had trying to arrest a man. There were at least 10 men trying to subdue Hurst, who is of slight build, but even after they had him doubly handcuffed and shackled he had to be sat upon to be held down in the patrol wagon. He was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Say They Kept Speakeasy—Roman Bodobski of Harmer street, Bloomfield, was yesterday held in $1,500 bail and his bartender, John Brisky, was held in $1,000 bail for trial at court on a charge of selling liquor without a license. August 3 when the police went to raid Bodobski's house they found Mrs. Bodobski ill from smallpox. The house and 15 visitors were quarantined after Mrs. Bodobski was removed to the Municipal hospital. Sunday the quarantine was lifted. The visitors were discharged at the hearing at No. 3 police station yesterday.

PLANS FOR THE NEXT SEASON AT THE GRAND

Stage Manager Huffman Returns and Outlines the Work at the Grand. The Company.

Stage Director J. C. Huffman of the Grand opera house is home from his vacation and brings definite announcement of the Grand's new roster of players for the season of 1902-3. The season will open September 1 with J. I. C. Clarke's beautiful play, "Her Majesty," which was used as a starring medium by Miss Grace George so successfully. Naturally the greatest interest in the Grand's new season is attached to the new people, but probably the greatest concern of the theatergoers is in the Grand's new leading woman, Miss Eva Taylor, who comes to Pittsburgh with a reputation as one of the best leading women in the country.

Mr. Ingersoll will continue as the leading man. The others of last season's company who have been retained for this season include Miss Alice Gale, Denny Harris, Wilton Taylor, Willis Martin and the comedian, Charles Abbe, who is quite the best in his particular line that has ever appeared at the Grand. Among the new people are Robert Elliott, who will play the parts next to Mr. Ingersoll. Mr. Elliott has filled a number of important positions on the stage with such stars as Modjeska, Joseph Haworth, Marie Burroughs and with Daniel Frohman's company. Miss Anna Buckley, who will supplant Miss Ballou, is recognized as one of the best soubrettes before the public. She created the part of the funny Slavey in "The Girl from Paris;" she also played the title role in "The Lady Slavey" and June in "Blue Jeans." Miss Minna Phillips, who will essay the roles next in importance to Miss Taylor, is a leading woman of established reputation. She made her debut in this country a few seasons ago with Augustin Daly's company; prior to that she played leading roles with Beerbohm Tree and George Elngold in London. Miss Engles Sumner, a very beautiful young woman, is another important engagement by Mr. Huffman. Miss Sumner has heretofore played leading business with various road companies. James Cooper, who will fill Mr. Yeomans's position, has had a long and successful theatrical career; his more recent engagements have been with Miss Julia Marlowe and Mme. Modjeska. Mr. Mace Greenleaf, who will essay the juvenile roles, is a handsome young man who has made his mark in a number of important New York productions. He took James K. Hackett's place in the road tour of "The Prisoner of Zenda."

KENNYWOOD AND SOUTHERN.

Phinney's Band at Former and Vaudeville at Latter.

The return of warm weather was welcomed by traction park officials yesterday and they are now predicting a long hot spell. The cool weather all summer was injurious to the park attendance. The attraction at Kennywood is Phinney's band of Chicago, which will be heard in two concerts, afternoon and evening, during the week.

Refined vaudeville is the bill at Southern park every evening this week. Over 6,000 people attended last night and hugely enjoyed the performance.

Tonight Rocereto's band in Highland park will give a ragtime concert, nothing but ragtime music being on the program. Over in West park, Allegheny, the Grand Army band will be heard.

Several Injured by Tornado.

WICHITA, KAN., Aug. 18.—Meager information reached here tonight of a tornado at Lost Springs, this afternoon, which demolished a grain elevator, a church and five residences. Three men whose names are not given are said to be seriously hurt and several others slightly injured.

Woman Bitten by Dogs.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The police were called upon today to shoot two ferocious dogs belonging to Henry Winters. Last night, as Miss Olive Lorain was passing Mr. Winter's house, the dogs sprang out and bit her. Miss Lorain is prostrated by the shock and the wounds.

EMPIRE THEATER OPENS ITS DOORS WITH A NEW PLAY

Newly Furnished and Decorated Manager McCullough's Playhouse Is a Beauty.

PLAYS AT OTHER HOUSES

"The Geisha" at Duquesne Garden, Zig-Zag Alley at Bijou and the Popular Bon Tons at the Academy of Music.

Manager McCullough deserves to be sincerely congratulated. In preparing his "uptown" playhouse for the patrons, won through a season of successful catering to public taste, he has spared no expense or pains in changing the sombre and worn interior of the old Empire into a rich and pleasing auditorium.

The fulfillment of the promises made by the management at the close of last season leave little to be desired in the way of a comfortable and artistic theater. Descriptions have already been written of the character of the new furnishing and the big audience that last night greeted the opening attraction felt a new sense of comfort and luxury as they viewed the rich trimmings and tasteful interior adornments that had taken the place of the old hangings. There is harmony in the blending of the rich red of woodwork and walls with the new crimson carpet that covers aisles and lobby. The patrons of the Empire are to be congratulated along with the management. The East End now has a cosy, handsome playhouse, and a management that seems determined to exorcise the last lingering vestige of the old "hoodoo" that is alleged to have clung to the fortunes of the Empire.

The audience last evening was a large one and appropriately and variously enthusiastic over the joys and sorrows of the characters in William Lapoint's new comedy drama, "For Love and Honor." To the gallery the unalloyed joy of hissing the villain and sympathizing with the sufferings of two often baffled and sorrowing lovers was given the unstinted measure.

Mr. Lapoint has written a melo-drama with thrills enough for at least a half-dozen such compositions. The impossible happens with all the ease and celerity that the most imaginative could hope for. The plot is time-worn and the development is essentially crude, but the services of a half-dozen or more clever people helps to cover up the deficiencies in authorship. Miss May Cunard is not only a young actress of charming personality, but has grace and clever talent to back it. A. H. Clements is a typical "down east" Yankee, and plays the familiar part capitally. James Heenehan is a good actor, though a little stagy. Edith Ward played the soubrette role with dash and spirit, and won the gallery in the first act. The audience was highly pleased which, after all, is the highest test of virtues of a melo-drama. The cast follows:

Zeke Webster, owner of Parker farm.....A. H. Clements
Ned Dayton.....Jas. A. Heenehan
Victor Vincent, a Wall street schemer.....Gus Spangler
Bennie Rawlins, the town fool.....James Grant
Charles Chandler, a promoter.....J. W. Hartman
George Martin.....Gustave Wallace
Jake Spencer, bookmaker.....H. Weburich
Jed Clark, town constable.....Hank Stevens
Lew Payne, a miner.....Thomas Burke
Maud Martin.....May E. Cunard
Flo Harvey, an adventuress.....Lillian Ames Keanan
Susie Dayton, who saves the farm.....Edith Ward

Duquesne Garden—"The Gelsha."

The manner in which "The Gelsha" was produced explains how it is that the audiences at the Duquesne garden have averaged 14,500 a week. The stage setting, costuming and, in fact, all the appointments were as complete and elaborate as if the piece were put on for a long run instead of for a week of summer entertainment. The scenes were in every way gratifying to the eye and the performers did their work in a way which showed their versatility, as well as good stage management.

The piece will be remembered as one of the London Gaiety theater productions, with the merits and defects of its class. Like them all, it is rather heavily constructed, mediocre in musical quality and dependent upon stage effects rather than upon score and libretto for its success. The Duquesne Garden Company made the most of its material and carried it through in a way that delighted the large audience. Miss Edith Mason gave to O Umosa San a charming representation, and both by her singing and acting made a decided hit. Mr. Charles H. Drew, as Wun Hi, proprietor of the tea house of Ten Thousand Joys, was full of drollery and acted the part to perfection, but the audience would have liked it better had he had more vocal numbers. Mr. Robert L. Pigott, as Marquis Imari, had also rather an acting than a singing part, but he gave a fine performance. Mr. George H. Sinclair, as the marquis' attendant, Takeminni, was very comical. Mr. Thomas H. Persse, as Lieut. Reginald Fairfax, displayed his usual competency, although the part did not display his talent to the best advantage. Miss Victoria Blumee, as Juliette, the French geisha, acted cleverly. Few of the characters have good musical opportunities and the success of the piece lies in its general brightness and vivacity.

Two large and enthusiastic audiences at the Bijou yesterday greeted the new spectacular trick farce-comedy, "Zig Zag Alley," which was written by James Gorman, and which is being exploited this, its first season, by W. E. Flack, who has so often directed the very successful fortunes of "Eight Bells," and Walter Floyd, to introduce the popular comedians, Zeb and Zarrow.

There is no plot of any consequence, but there is a great deal of fun, and a great many high class specialties add materially to the enjoyment of the entertainment. "Jolly" Zeb and "Happy" Zarrow and Ben T. Dilion, the comedians; Andrew O'Neil, who has a splendid tenor voice; Louis Martinetti and Lillie Sutherland, with their graceful acrobatic dancing; Lillie Sieger, who plays the cornet with unusual skill; Louise Dempsey, the Irish queen of the alley; Goff Phillips, the Hebrew pawnbroker; Frank Kennebel, and the Damm brothers, in their acrobatic act, are the principal features and were received with great favor. Ella Shields, "the southern nightingale," has a delightful voice and gave some coon songs with great enthusiasm. The "Pinkey Pankey Poo" chorus was a fine feature, all appearing in Japanese costume, with pink sticks, which made a very pretty effect when the sage was darkened. "The Girl With the Banjo Eye" quartet made a decided hit and was frequently encored. The trick horse, the donkey and the trick hansom cab, and the revolving scenery were all received with great favor. The chorus is composed of very pretty girls and has decided strength numerically and vocally.

Academy—"Bon Ton Burlesquers."

There is no better aggregation on the burlesque circut than Rush's "Bon Ton Burlesquers" and their advent at the Academy of Music last night brought out a crowd of old time admirers. All the former favorites are in the company including the inimitable Frank Byron and Louise Langdon, the beautiful. Byron has a fund of new jokes and gags which he springs upon the audience in his familiar cracked voice, and made an instant hit. The show has been improved in every respect and the costumes are more elaborate than had ever been seen in any production at a popular priced vaudeville house in this city. The elegant wardrobe, too, was displayed in the best of style, as the beautiful young women in the chorus. Two burlesques were given and an olio of excellent acts including Grace Leonard, the soubret; James and Flora Simpson, musical artists, the Barrett brothers, Celtic knockabout comedians; Hoey and Lee, Hebrew parody singers, and Byron and Langdon, in their old stunt under a new name. This time they call their skit, "The Dude Detective." It would amuse the patrons of a performance more pretentious than that of Rush's burlesquers, and contains much genuine merit.

Majestic Bringing Notables.

FOR CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

President Van Horn Endorses Pe-ru-na. A Letter From Delegate Wilcox.

All Over This Country Are Hundreds of People Suffering From Catarrh of the Stomach Who Are Wasting Precious Time and Enduring Needless Suffering—The Remedies They Try Only Temporarily Palliate the Distress, But Never Effect a Cure.

LeRoy Van Horn.

Mr. LeRoy Van Horn, President of American Flag Day Association, writes from 301 Madison street, Chicago, Ill.:

"Peruna is rich in wonderful medicinal qualities as I have found by repeated use in cases of catarrh of the stomach. I am therefore pleased to accord it my hearty endorsement."—LeRoy Van Horn.

Hon. Robert W. Wilcox, Delegate to Congress from Hawaii and the Sandwich Islands, in a recent letter from Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Peruna for dyspepsia and I cheerfully give you this testimonial. Am satisfied if it is used properly it will be of great benefit to our people. I can conscientiously recommend it to anyone who is suffering with stomach or catarrhal troubles."—R. W. Wilcox.

Remedies for dyspepsia have multiplied so rapidly that they are becoming as numerous as the leaves of the forest, and yet dyspepsia continues to flourish in spite of them all. This is due to the fact that the cause of dyspepsia is not recognized as catarrh.

If there is a remedy in the whole range of medicinal preparations that is in every particular adapted to dyspepsia, that remedy is Peruna. This remedy is well-nigh invincible in these cases.

No one suffering with catarrh of the stomach or dyspepsia, however slight, can be well or happy. It is the cause of so many distressing symptoms that it is a most dreaded disease. Peruna acts immediately at the seat of the trouble, the inflamed mucous membranes lining the stomach, and a lasting cure is effected.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

NO WONDER HE PERSPIRES!

With red hot drinks and hot red meats, he makes his blood caloric,
And then calls down the Weather Man in language metaphoric
He is hotter 'neath the collar than the man who's skinned at poker,
Nor knows he's acting out the part of "Each man his own stoker."

By courtesy of the New York World this illustration is reproduced. It caused comment, followed by thought.

It's a sure matter of fact and certain proposition that one can keep cool and comfortable in the hottest weather if common sense is used on the food and drink question.

Leave off liquors, meat, coffee and tea. Breakfast on fruit, a dish of Grape-Nuts breakfast food and cream, and perhaps one or two soft eggs.

Let it go at that, unless you want a slice of toast; and repeat this meal during the day.

Cut out the hot drinks on hot days. Sip a little water, not too cold, or some cold Postum Food Coffee with a squeeze of lemon in it.

Food experts and chemists know why Grape-Nuts food does not heat the blood, but, on the contrary, furnishes the exact kind of food from which Nature builds the soft gray matter in brain and nerve cells.

If your nervous system is well fed and kept up to full strength you can be comfortable in any weather. It is the nervously depleted people that suffer in hot weather.

Pin your faith to good, sensible and scientific food and mark the increase of comfort.

TWELVE PAGES.

Conclusions Erroneous.

Figures produced by Recorder Brown to refute the charge that public money is lying idle in depositories, to the probable advantage of some one, are given attention by Assistant Controller Morrow. The information was given out in connection with the recorder's tabular statement that the data was obtained from the assistant controller's accounts. Mr. Morrow leaves the figures but demolishes practically all of the recorder's conclusions.

It may be admitted that councils have been slow, alike in making provision for improvements and in giving the city indirect revenues easily attainable. But the delays hark back to the "organization" of which Mr. Brown is the head. That contingent in the select branch which represents the old "organization" has been holding up everything designed to benefit the community, from park comforts to streets and sewers.

A Business Advantage.

Cuba's proposed new tariff offers fresh evidence that the advantage of reciprocity, as proposed by President Roosevelt, would not all be on the side of Cuba. It could be made truly reciprocal. A little study of the items on which it is proposed to advance the duties will convince the student that there is a field in the island for American trade. Then to give the sugar and tobacco of Cuba a market in the United States will give to the people of the new republic added power to purchase from this country the commodities which they need.

Primarily it is a patriotic duty of this country to complete its work of making Cuba free by making it prosperous, but secondarily reciprocity is a sound business proposition in which there is advantage on both sides. It is worth something to keep the respect and gratitude of the Cuban people by treating them well and this asset is doubly valuable if there is any thought of future annexation, because this country has no use for citizens embittered against its institutions for cause.

Rumors About Mr. Schwab.

Denials positive and indignant are filed against the rumors affecting the health of President Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation. Equally positive are the assertions that Mr. Schwab is not about to retire from the management of the big steel interests. Yet the rumors persist.

It is not so difficult to understand the situation as some people affect to believe. It is natural that Mr. Schwab should be tired, for he has been working hard ever since the big corporation was organized. It is not improbable that he was near the point of breaking down and is under advice of his physician to seek absolute rest. That augurs for his return to activity, when he is needed, with renewed energy. As far as can be learned from his associates in business such are the facts in the case.

Now for the rumors. They may be assigned to two sources. First, bear operators in the markets who are ready to circulate any story they can find the slightest foundation for that might weaken the markets. Second, sensation mongers who are willing to take a hundred to one chance on having an imaginary story verified. It will be easily remembered how this class hung on to King Edward's illness, before the actual surgical operation—which they did not expect—and afterward to the very hour of the coronation. The king might have suffered another illness. It is among the possibilities that Mr. Schwab might become seriously sick. Anyone else might, also. But it does not follow that there is any foundation for the sensational stories which have been told.

A Lesson From Germany.

A consular report from Berlin states that the manufacture of briquettes has become an extensive industry in Germany, with steadily increasing production. Briquettes are an artificial fuel, the chief ingredient of which is the dust and waste of coal mines. As a matrix or binder of the composition mineral pitch is used, and the briquettes are turned out at such a low price that they are sold at an average rate of $3 16 a ton, and are in general use. The briquettes are clean and convenient to handle, they kindle easily and burn freely, making practically no smoke. The consul remarks that "one of the first things usually noticed by American and English travelers visiting the German capital for the first time is the absence of that cloud of dusty smoke that overhangs so many towns and cities in our country." This is accomplished by the use of a fuel which in this country is allowed to go to waste.

Another industrial economy noted in the report is that coke is made in retort ovens by which every element is saved, the gas from the coal being collected as carefully as the coke. By our methods we foul the air with products that if utilized would enhance the national wealth while securing the public comfort. It appears that after all we have something to learn from "the effete monarchies of Europe."

Municipal Demoralization.

It was not the absenteeism of City Recorder Brown that was the burden of complaint of the newspaper organ of the municipal administration on Saturday, except in so far as to this absenteeism was attributed the admitted ills of the municipality. The Times declared "that party followers are dismayed and disheartened, that bureaus are disorganized and that the public service viewed as a whole is demoralized." It was further said: "It cannot well be claimed that the people of Pittsburgh are getting as good a government as they have been accustomed to in the past. As the saying goes, they are not getting their money's worth."

This, it must be remembered, is not the criticism of a newspaper opposed to Recorder Brown's administration. It is the verdict of a long-time thick-and-thin supporter, presumably made up after careful examination and exact weighing of all the evidence.

The recorder's reply to it is this:

> There is hardly a day that I don't go to city hall.
> I have been going to my office and then going to another city building and attending to my official business there.
> I have simply to say that the pass fiend has driven me out. Fully 98 per cent of those who come to my office ask for free transportation.

This may explain why Recorder Brown has not been at his office. But it does not dispose of the charge that "the public service viewed as a whole is demoralized." Nor does it set aside the verdict of the organ of the municipal administration that the people of Pittsburgh "are not getting their money's worth" in the way of municipal administration. The Times blames these conditions on the recorder's absenteeism and inattention to business. The recorder replies that he has been attending to business.

If the recorder has been attending to business to the best of his ability, to what is the municipal demoralization due? Will the Times continue to insist that it is the recorder that is at fault, and will it still blame his alleged absenteeism and inattention to business, or inattention alone, or in conjunction with something else?

There being no apparent dispute or denial of the demoralization and failure to give the people their money's worth, the people would like the expert witnesses of the municipal machine to go to the root of the matter and make a clean breast of everything. Why is it that "the public service viewed as a whole is demoralized?" Why is the money raised by taxation being wasted in spendthrift fashion?

Trouble in Mindanao.

It is not surprising to learn of fresh troubles in Mindanao. Of all the Filipino natives the savages of Bacolod have proved most intractable to civilizing influences, and all attempts to overcome their hostility has been met with fierce and treacherous resistance. The killing of two United States soldiers by a band of Moros and the wounding of one other has convinced the American forces of the futility of further efforts toward peaceful subjugation of the savages. A campaign against the Bacolods with the purpose of dislodging them from their hiding places will be inaugurated at once. The Moros of Mindanao constitute almost the sole source of disturbance in the Philippines, and it is further claimed that the Americans are in danger of losing the friendly support of the peaceful natives of Mindanao should they fail to use prompt measures to put an end to the roving and murderous bands of Moros who are as much a source of danger to the more civilized natives as to the Americans.

The False Prophets.

An odd commentary upon the credulity of many people is afforded in the anxiety that is said to have existed with reference to the prophesied destruction of Atlantic City yesterday by a great tidal wave. While the alarm was confined for the most part to the ignorant and was especially felt among the superstitious colored population of the island, there was not a few people of presumably reasonable intelligence who expressed great nervousness, some actually leaving the resort until all possibility of the fulfillment of the prophecy had passed. It is well enough to poke fun at those excitable people whose fears and superstitions are so easily played upon, but to the sufferers it is far from a laughing matter. The world-wide seismic disturbances during the year, coupled with the silly stories of a general upheaval of the forces of nature predicated upon these, made the Atlantic City prophecy seem all the more plausible and added to the terror that such a prediction would ordinarily create in the minds of the credulous.

There is no place for a laugh in connection with the cruel prophecy, but there is good ground for severely punishing the persons guilty of giving it circulation. If the preacher who first announced it among his over-superstitious people really believed that such a calamity was impending, he is a subject for an insane asylum and should be put there. If he made the prediction as a mere exhibition of silly boasting he should be punished for it, and with him all the people who in any way have sought to add to the fear and dismay among the timid to the material injury of a prosperous and popular resort.

Open Door to China.

Only the royal signature is needed to put in force a real "open door" policy in China. The commercial treaty negotiated on behalf of the United States, England, Holland, Italy, Japan and other countries with China representatives is the longest step that ancient empire has taken toward embracing modern institutions. In effect it opens the entire country to foreign commerce and deprives the petty officials of their supreme power of blackmail by abolishing the likin tax.

It is hardly necessary to say that opening interior China to the trade of the world implies opening it to all the influences of modern civilization. The Chinese people are imitative to a high degree. Contact with the world will enlarge their horizon. Development is inevitable. The prospect is particularly gratifying from an American point of view, because this country is in a position to supply the greater part of the new necessities of an expanding empire. Trade with the world in this instance means particularly trade with the United States.

Annexation Not Necessary.

There has been a sensible cessation of the talk current several days ago favorable to a plan of annexation of some southern neighbors. The question of annexation arose out of the increasing difficulty and annoyance suffered by this country in protecting our interests and avoiding European complications in the midst of constant disturbances among the quarrelsome and belligerent Haitiens, who indulge in series of wars that upset trade and demand the presence of United States naval vessels for the protection of American lives and property. With the increasing prospect of peace in Colombia and Haiti and an ending of the Venezuelan revolution the most serious elements of disorder will have been disposed of and the friends of annexation will have no peg on which to hang their arguments.

There is little danger that the periodical wars among these little American republics will ever seriously endanger American interests, even after our more important interest through the building of the Panama canal shall have been established. If this government finds that it will need a coaling station in South American waters it may acquire one through the usual diplomatic negotiations.

The United States has quite enough trouble of an insular kind on its hands without annexing a small-sized hornet's nest in the shape of one of the cantankerous little republics to the south of us.

His Manner Was Cold.

From the Saturday Evening Post.

When Admirals Evans and Schley were both assigned to duty on the lighthouse board, which convenes in rooms at the treasury department in Washington, the colored messenger at the door one morning stopped Admiral Schley.

"I wish," said the darky, "you would speak a kind word to Comdore Evans for me. He's done got it in for me."

"You must be mistaken, George," Schley replied. "I happen to know that Commodore Evans, like the rest of us, thinks highly of your distinguished services."

"Oh, I'm sure," persisted the colored man, "that Comdore Evans don't like me no more."

"What makes you think so?" demanded Schley.

"Well," explained the messenger, "usually when Comdore Evans arrives in the mornin' he says, 'Hello, George, you blankety-blank-blank fool! How are you?' but dis mornin' he done say merely, 'Hello, George!' The comdore must surely taken a powful dislike to me."

ANOTHER KICK AT UNCLE SAM

Pittsburgher Who Dislikes Persistence and Suspicion of Custom House Officials.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
New York, August 18.

This is the home-coming time of European travelers, and the annoyances of the New York custom house are more in evidence than ever. A Pittsburgher, who came to this port on a steamer on Sunday, declared to me that there was more unpleasantness in getting past the inspectors than in any of the European countries he ever visited. While there is no fault to be found with the inspectors individually, their attitude in general is one of suspicion, and they look at every person coming ashore not only as a possible smuggler, but as positively determined to defraud the government, unless prevented. In most foreign countries, said this Pittsburgher, the examining of baggage is a formality disposed of in a few minutes, but at New York steamship piers one must submit his personal belongings to the closest examination. Not content with ordinary scrutiny, the inspector delves deeply into trunk, valise or handbag, turning everything up from the bottom and prying into the innermost secrets of the receptacle. He does not say that he believes the owner to be a smuggler, but the inference cannot be mistaken. The difference between New York and such a place, say, as Havre, Southampton or Hamburg, is so great as to be anything but complimentary to American official courtesy. This has become an old complaint in the last few years, but the grumbling on the part of the public has not had the effect of easing the system. Of course a great deal of contraband property is brought into the country, and always will be, in spite of all the vigilance of the custom house authorities. The regrettable effect is that it is innocent persons that suffer. Your hardened old smuggler—even when in the form of a handsome and fashionably connected woman—does not feel the indignity of seeing her most intimate effects turned inside out, as does the average American making his first round trip on the Atlantic. Yet it is the American that gets it harder than anybody. This plaint of the Pittsburgher is but an echo of thousands of others of the same kind. Going to Europe has always this custom house penalty attached.

More Teachers En Route Home.

Some of the teachers who were guests of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph for the European tour left New York for Pittsburgh tonight. Others stayed to enjoy the concert by John Duss at St. Nicholas garden and to indulge in a day or two of shopping in this city. Miss Lecky, who was at the concert this evening, intends to stay at Atlantic City for a short time after leaving New York.

Weather Man as Bargain Maker.

Notwithstanding that the weather bureau declares a hot wave is on the way, you can buy straw hats and negligee shirts at almost any old price. At one fashionable hat store in Broadway there are straw hats as low as 50 cents apiece which were retailing at $3 a month or six weeks ago. Real or "near" Panamas seem to have slumped more than the regular straw. Any individual with $1 in his pocket can mount a Panama hat, and a good looking one, too. Then there are negligee shirts. If you have 75 cents to spare you may buy one of these $3 50 negligee shirts, with a score of pleats in the bosom, more or less, and as swell as the best of them. It is a great time to buy summer clothes. The worst of it is that there is not summer enough in prospect to give one hope of being able to wear out your bargains.

Another Fighting Croker.

Chief Croker of the New York fire department, nephew of Richard Croker, former Tammny boss, has the family characteristic of bulldog courage. He likes to be in the fight, when there is one. For that reason he has just come back from Good Ground, Long Island, to take charge of his department, although he had departed on a vacation which was to last until the latter part of next month. He understands that there are charges, formal or otherwise, made against him, and he is here to face the music. He was not expected to come back so soon, and he smiles grimly as he hears his enemies make remarks to that effect.

Weather Man Explains.

New York's weather forecaster has been explaining today why the weather bureau makes so many mistakes in telling what the weather is to be. Mr. Emery, New York's weather man, is quoted as saying today, in explanation of the fine weather of yesterday, when, according to official predictions, it should have rained hard: "This is the commencement of the hurricane season of the year, and we are correspondingly on our guard. At 8 o'clock on Friday evening we had news of a disturbance at sea which was traveling westerly. On Saturday morning it manifested itself by heavy rains on the Atlantic coast through North Carolina and Virginia. The usual things for these storms to do is to move northward, a circumstance which occasioned the prophecy of rain for this section of the country. Contrary to our expectations, however, most of the storm took place at sea, only the westerly edge of it touching the middle Atlantic seaboard. On Saturday night when it shifted to the south, the forecast for Sunday was changed to fair weather." Now, what does Mr. Ridgeway think of that?

Crepe Hangs on Zoo Gate.

Up in the Bronx zoo there is grief and lamentation. Death has visited one of the departments, and is hanging like a grisly shadow over another. The musk ox, one of the most interesting exhibits in the collection, is dead, and a valuable coral snake is in a decline, which must end in demise before long. The ox departed this life before pneumonia had wasted his frame, but the snake for the last five days has lost an ounce a day, and unless relief comes soon, it is feared it will go to the serpentine nirvana, weighing several ounces less than nothing. The snake weighed 17 ounces when an unknown disease chanced upon it, and its brilliantly hued skin began to drop. Before this week closes it will weigh only three ounces if still alive. Every effort was made to save the life of the musk ox, because Director Hornaday had waited for 18 months after a commission was given to secure a specimen before the capture was made inside the arctic circle, north of Bear lake. The animal was captured by a friend of William C. Whitney, who gave it to Mr. Whitney, thinking he would place it in his game preserve. Mr. Whitney was willing to take the chances of outdoor exposure, and the vagaries of climate with the animal, which was worth several thousand dollars, and presented it to the society for exhibition.

Shivers Coming to Flat Dwellers.

Flat dwellers in New York may be disagreeably reminded of the anthracite coal strike in Pennsylvania this winter in a way that they have not anticipated. Landlords have sent notices to their tenants that only half the usual amount of fuel will be used for heating apartment houses this winter. The high price of coal forbids the use of the regular amount, and tenants will have to shiver in their supposedly steam-heated apartments, unless they wrap themselves up a yard thick in bedclothes. It is the experience of many New Yorkers that even when an apartment house has plenty of fuel the steam heat is not much in evidence in the early morning, unless the janitor happens to be much more industrious than most of his tribe. When that functionary has the excuse that there is not much coal in the cellar, the conditions in the Harlem flat district are likely to be bleak indeed.

Disguise II. Back With His Laurels.

There were 123 thoroughbred horses on the steamship Minnetonka when she arrived at this port today. Among them was James R. Keene's running horse, Disguise II. They all came from England. Disguise II. is a 5-year-old colt by Domine, out of Bonnie Gal. He was taken abroad by Mr. Keene when a year old, and as a 3-year-old, on September 27, 1900, won the Jockey club stakes at Newmarket, one of the classic events. King Edward's Diamond Jubilee was the popular favorite, but Disguise II. beat him easily, winning by two lengths. Disguise went wrong after this race, which was worth $50,000, and now he goes into the stud.

Tammanyites Seek Consolation.

It is expected that there will be at least 100 well-known Tammany men at Saratoga by the end of this week. These are hard times for the Tiger, and the braves get together to condole with each other and to wonder how long the present reform wave in Greater New York will last. There has been an unusually large gathering of Tammanyites at Saratoga in the last week or two and probably there will be another exodus from this city on Thursday and Friday for the Spa, to join in the usual pow-wow before the meeting of the state committee. In the corridors of the Grand Union and the United States, at the race track, or along Broadway the latter part of the week one is likely to run into at least 25 of the 35 district leaders. Senator "Big Tim" Sullivan, former Mayor Van Wyck, John F. Carroll, John J. Scannell, "Larry" Delmour, Isaac Fromme, "Jim" Keating, Lewis Nixon, Maurice Untermeyer, Maurice Holahan and numerous of the lesser lights. The "Big Three" will start up state on Thursday.

Mussels First, Fortune Afterward.

Prosperity does not spoil some people. We have an example of that in this neighborhood. Mrs. Elizabeth Dickens, who is in the mussel fishery business at Jamaica, Long Island, expects to get $900,000 of the $5,000,000 left by her uncle, who died in Australia early in July. But she is taking it very coolly. Mrs. Dickens is still bearding slimy mussels down on the shores of Jamaica bay, just as if she had no claim to a fortune that could buy all of Camarsie, where she has lived out the greater part of her humble life. "That money aint worrying me," she said this afternoon as she stripped the muddy beards from mussels fresh from the bottom of the bay. And it wasn't, that was clear. She was not the kind to be worried over a paltry half million or so. She was too busy pickling mussels to bother about it, anyhow.

THE DEATH ROLL.

George Burns.

George Burns, 80 years old, who passed away in Findley township, this county, last Friday evening, was interred at Valley church, Imperial, Sunday afternoon. He had the distinction of being one of the first abolitionists in Findley township. He lived and died on the farm on which he was born. He joined the Republican party on its organization and was a straight out and out and ardent Republican ever since. He was also a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church for many years and a strong temperance advocate, being one of a number who was the means of having a prohibition law passed for Findley township which is still in force. He held many offices of trust in the township and when any business matter needed to be straightened out George Burns was always the one called on to perform the duty. His word was considered as good as his bond. He was a very useful man in his neighborhood and his place will be hard to fill.

Chance for Comparison.

From the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The more one reads of the ruin that threatens the historic structures of Venice, the more one is forced to believe that the queen of the Adriatic must have had a building department something like ours when the permits for these structures were issued.

A POWER BEHIND SAXONY'S THRONE

Masculine Princess Who Defies Precedent and Convention.

By the MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Owing to the fact of King George being a widower, it is, strictly speaking, the crown princess, an Austrian archduchess by birth, who is the first lady in the kingdom of Saxony. Officially she is entitled to all the rights and privileges of an uncrowned queen. In reality her place as first lady in the land is usurped by her strong-minded sister-in-law, Princess Mathilde, the eldest daughter of the king and, since her mother's death, his constant companion and most trusted adviser.

The princess is unmarried, and elderly, being considerably over 40 years of age. She is exceedingly stout, rather tall and extremely masculine in her manners and utterances. She is also rather homely and one of the most odd figures among the unmarried princesses of the reigning houses of Europe. In spite of her weight she is a magnificent horsewoman, riding invariably very big horses, and is a splendid four-in-hand whip, her father, the king, usually occupying the box seat by her side.

She is quite the reverse of conventional, speaks out her mind just as thoughts happen to occur to her, and is much dreaded by people at court on account of her gift of sarcasm. Nothing delights her so much as to gently encourage some unwary courtier to talk about something which he does not understand and of which he possesses merely superficial acquaintance, and then suddenly crush him with her knowledge, dished up with a "sauce piquante" satire. Indeed, everybody is in dread of her sharp tongue, and it is owing to this that she is far more feared than popular.

Unpopular With the People.

Even the masses do not like her. This is because she is credited with having inherited all the pronounced ultramontane ideas of her Portuguese mother, and with influencing her father, the king, toward a clerical rather than a national policy. It must be remembered that nine-tenths of the people of Saxony are Protestants. The reigning house, formerly Lutheran, went over to the Roman Catholic church at the time when the ruler of Saxony became king of Poland. Poland is no longer subject to the house of Saxony, but the latter has remained Roman Catholic.

Princess Mathilde has the most extraordinary walk. She takes enormous strides like those of a man, and when she is out shooting, or promenading along the country road around her father's summer residence, with short skirts and heavy boots, she conveys the impression at a distance of being a man in a long cloak, and it is difficult to pursuade strangers that she is a princess of the blood, the daughter of the king and the power behind the Saxon throne.

The princess does not get on well with her sister-in-law, the crown princess, who is a very charming and essentially feminine woman, who by no means relishes the manner in which her prerogatives are usurped. Indeed, the crown princess is not likely to be seen much at court during the present reign, the king always taking the side of Princess Mathilde in every controversy. With all that he is a far less easy going man than his predecessor and elder brother. The relations between him and the court at Berlin have been strained of late, and as the kaiser is no admirer of Princess Mathilde, nor she of him, things are likely to become worse.

Scientific Spinster Princess.

Princess Mathilde, who enjoys, I believe, the distinction of being the only royal princess now living, who has had the smallpox, has a counterpart, not in appearance, but in character, in Princess Theresa of Bavaria, another royal spinster half way between 50 and 60 years of age, who is lean and spare rather than stout, but otherwise like Princess Mathilde of Saxony, very masculine, unconventional, and decidedly plain. She is the eldest daughter of the prince regent of Bavaria, the apple of his eye, and her influence over him is very great. She does not take any interest in politics. Her attention is monopolized by science, ethnographical and geographical, and she is, I believe, the only lady of royal birth who can claim to be an Arctic explorer, her voyages having carried her far beyond the polar circle.

She has spent much of her time in the United States, studying the various Indian tribes, during the course of which she claims to have traversed the continent from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico no less than 32 times, living among the Indians for weeks together.

She has explored Brazil in every direction and has written several standard works about that country. She is a member of almost every learned society in Europe, but is not particularly appreciated as a guest by the various reigning houses in Europe, as she has a disconcerting way of arriving with all sorts of queer treasures in the shape of mummies, skulls, reptiles and live stock of exotic character, for which she expects hospitality in the royal palaces.

I remember on one occasion she arrived at Lisbon from South America with a couple of able-bodied pumas and expected the king to put them up along with her other impedimenta at his palace.

President Loubet Not to Blame.

There is much bad blood between President Loubet and the new French premier, the ex-priest Combes. It seems when the cabinet decided upon the closing of the two thousand schools maintained and directed by priests and nuns who failed to secure from the government the necessary authorization as required by statute, the premier asked the president to sign a presidential decree ordering the close of the schools in question.

This President Loubet refused, as was his constitutional right. The consequence was the schools are being closed, not by presidential decree, but by the premier to the prefects or governors of the various departments.

The matter is about to be brought before the council of state, and leading lawyers of the land do not hesitate to express the opinion that the council of state, which is the highest tribunal of France in such matters will decide against the latter, in which event the doom of the Combes cabinet will be sealed.

The fact that President Loubet refused to sign a decree closing suddenly 2,000 schools, with no adequate provision for the education of the children thus turned adrift, should be made known in this country, as he is being blamed in many quarters here for having lent himself to a role of religious persecution which is entirely foreign to his character.

People's Pleasures Taken Away.

Following the example of William Waldorf Astor and of the Duke of Orleans, who have rendered themselves unpopular in England by making use of proprietary rights to close to the public some of the most beautiful walks and drives around the Thames, Sir Roger Palmer, a baronet and veteran who rode in the "Charge of the Light Brigade" in the Crimea nearly 50 years ago, has now succeeded in establishing exclusive right to all fishing in the Thames between Maidenhead Bridge and Cookham.

Sir Roger based his right in the fishing on the strength that it had existed as a recognized right and property ever since the Norman conquest, being mentioned in the Dooms Day Book, and that it had passed into the possession of Sir Roger Palmer's ancestors in 1638. As soon as this was proved the court had no alternative but to grant a decision.

But the judgment suggests unpleasant possibilities. In olden days proprietary rights to land and water were freely given by the crown and since Sir Roger's right to the fishing and to the water and the bed of the river between Maidenhead Bridge and Cookham Bridge is established, there is no reason why some one should not put forward similar claims to Boutters Lock and all sorts of other popular bits of the Thames, practically closing off that river to the public as an aquatic playground and highway.

PERSONALS.

George H. Hartzell, who for over a year has been one of the crew of 22 on the submarine torpedo boat Holland of the United States navy, spent last night at the Duquesne. Mr. Hartzell received an honorable discharge with recommendation for promotion in case of re-entering the navy. He enlisted as an apprentice six years ago. His present rank is gunner's mate of the third class. He is a native of Beloit, Mahoning county, O., and is now en route there to visit relatives. He will also go to Minneapolis, Minn., for the same purpose and may later return to the navy. "The Holland is a complete success," he said last evening. "The United States navy is very proud to have obtained so wonderful a submarine boat. There are just 22 enlisted men and two officers that are allowed on the boat and each of us is sworn to absolute secrecy regarding the interior arrangement. The French navy has also a submarine boat for which much is claimed, but so far as can be learned it is not nearly so satisfactory as the Holland. The boat carries three torpedoes and a new form of projecting arrangement has been devised, by which one of these torpedoes can be sent 1,700 yards through the water and with accurate aim. Heretofore the limit of range was not over 1,100 yards."

A full-fledged Chinese mandarin, dressed in all the finery his rank bestows and vainly trying to talk in his native tongue with other Chinese, was a sight furnished in this city yesterday. The mandarin is Dang Chung, a student at Wooster university at Wooster, O. He came to Pittsburgh yesterday to visit his fellow countrymen here. He stopped at the Seventh Avenue, where one of the teachers at Wooster, Miss Louise Johnston, is also stopping. Clad in his official robes, with the black cap tipped with the red button denoting his rank, he attracted a great deal of attention. During the day he visited the local Chinese Masonic temple and it was there that he found himself unable to talk intelligibly with the Chinese. The Pittsburgh Chinese are almost all from Canton province, whereas he is from a northern province. The job was given up finally and all conversed in pigeon English. He expects to be here for several days.

Carl May, aged about 25 years, son of a sole-leather manufacturer of Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, is at the Seventh Avenue. He is making a trip through the United States to study American tannery methods. At this he has been engaged for three months and he makes severe criticisms of American methods. "Quality is sacrificed to haste," he said last evening. "The value of the leather is not nearly so great as that of German leather. Much more machinery is used in the American than in the German plants."

First Lieut. Marshall Childs, Twelfth United States infantry, brother-in-law of H. C. Frick, is in the city, on leave of absence, visiting his family. Lieut. Childs was appointed a second lieutenant on July 9, 1898, and for the past three years has been on duty in the Philippines. He returned to this country about two months ago with his regiment, which was at once sent to Fort Bliss, Tex. Lieut. Childs is in excellent health and shows no signs of the hardships to which he has been exposed.

A. G. Boal, a well-known newspaper man of Pittsburgh, has been elected cashier of the First National bank of West Elizabeth and has taken charge of the new financial institution. At a meeting of the directors of the bank held yesterday afternoon it was decided to increase the capital stock from $25,000 to $50,00.

A party of delegates to the annual convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which convenes at Wilkesbarre today, left Pittsburgh yesterday morning. There were 35 members in the party representing a membership of almost 6,000 in Allegheny county.

C. H. Howard, second vice president of the newly-formed American Steel Castings Company, passed through Pittsburgh last evening on the Pennsylvania limited, en route to St. Louis on business. Outside of saying that all is well with the company, Mr. Howard would not talk.

Tunis F. Dean, advertising manager of the Grand Opera house, returned to Pittsburgh yesterday and is stopping at the Lincoln. He has been spending his vacation at his old home, Baltimore, and is now ready to take up the season's work.

F. N. Hoffstot, president of the Pressed Steel Car Company, who has been stopping at the Schenley for some days, returned to New York last evening on the Pittsburgh Limited.

T. J. Foley, assistant to the general manager of the Baltimore & Ohio, is at the Henry.

WHEN THE CROPS ARE IN.

"There's a kind of happy feelin'
creeps down
in a feller when
He's got his punkins gathered and the hay-
mow's full again;
There's hope in all the breezes that come
blowin' from the hill,
And you git to kind of thinkin' God is up
there somewhere still;
What a purty sight the wheat is as it's piled up in the bin!
Oh, it's good to be a farmer when the crops
Are In.

CUBA SCARCELY HAS GOOD CHANCE TO HURT TRADE

Little Attention Paid to Threat to Bar American Wheat and Corn.

BUSINESS VERY SMALL

Only About One Per Cent of Total Grain Exports from United States Go to Gem of Antilles—Figures of the Year.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
613 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.

The suggestion that Cuba may adopt a discriminating duty on wheat and corn imported into that island from the United States as a retaliation for the failure of congress to pass some reciprocity measure for the benefit of Cuba causes economists who are paying especial attention to our foreign trade to smile. Of course, those whose business it is to build up the American trade abroad endeavor to foster every relation that is contributing to that trade or that may be controlled in the future to contribute to it. But when the suggestion is made that Cuba may take such a course in order to force the United States to do anything it would not do otherwise they point to the statistics which show how small is the consumption of American wheat and corn by Cuba.

The statistics for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1902, have recently been published. The United States shipped abroad wheat flour to the value of $112,000,000 and wheat valued at $65,000,000. Cuba took wheat flour to the value of $2,135,000 and practically no wheat.

It will be seen that Cuba's importation of wheat flour was slightly over 1 per cent of the total exports of flour and wheat. This is regarded as so insignificant as not to enter into any calculation that might affect our foreign trade in that respect. If Cuba should absolutely bar out the wheat flour of the United States its action could not affect prices and would only result in diverting that amount of the product in some other direction.

During the last fiscal year the exports of corn from the United States amounted to $16,000,000. That was an exceeding small figure, because of the failure of the corn crop to a large extent. The normal amount of the exports of corn is valued at about $75,000,000. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1901, the corn exports aggregated $82,000,000. The present fiscal year will possibly produce a normal amount of this cereal. Last year the Cuban importation of corn amounted to $878,000. This, too, is about 1 per cent of the normal exports of corn from the United States.

Those who have the most thorough acquaintance with the foreign trade do not believe that Cuba will adopt any retaliatory act against American wheat and corn, for the business reason that these American products are of the highest quality and can be secured at better prices from the United States than from any other part of the world.

UNITED STATES THIRD.

Germany Figures Herself Second in International Trade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.—The state department made public today a report from United States Consul Winter at Annaberg, dated July 19, showing the commerce of the world for 1901, according to German statistics. The total import and export trade of all countries is given as approximately $23,800,000,000.

Great Britain and her colonies head the list with the great total of nearly $7,000,000,000. Germany is placed second with $2,618,000,000, and the United States third with $2,118,200,000. According to United States treasury figures the United States' share was $2,340,000,000.

Postoffice Changes.

A Mile in 41 Seconds.

A mile in 41 seconds is the railroad feat reported by John R. James, central passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific, who has just returned to Pittsburgh after accompanying the Pittsburgh Elks to Salt Lake City. The Pittsburgh special carried five cars, a heavier equipment than that of the "Pennsylvania Special," and the New York Central-Lake Shore "Twentieth Century Limited." Between Ossawatomie and Lomax on the Missouri Pacific, a distance of 35 miles was passed in 27 minutes. It was at the height of speed in this distance that the mile in 41 seconds was made.

MISS Nancy T. Carnegie arrived in New York on the St. Louis on Sunday after a couple of months abroad. She will join her mother, Mrs. Thomas M. Carnegie, at the Carnegie cottage at Racquet lake in the Adirondacks. Mrs. Carnegie opened her cottage early in the season. Her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Curtis Perkins, is staying there with her. The Carnegie home at Penn avenue and Homewood is kept open throughout the season and will be ready for the return of the family about the middle of September.

George Lauder, Jr., also arrived on the St. Louis on Sunday and is staying in the east. Mr. and Mrs. Lauder, Jr., sailed for England early in July to join George Lauder's family at their Scottish home near Dunfermline. The Lauder party included Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder, Sr., Miss Elizabeth Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. Greenway. Mrs. Greenway being Miss Harriet Lauder, whose wedding was a beautiful affair in June, and Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder, Jr. Mr. Lauder, Jr., has planned a long tour on his steam yacht, the Endymion, for the fall and winter, when he and his bride will visit the fashionable ports on the European and Asiatic shores. Mr. and Mrs. Lauder, Sr., and Miss Lauder are not expected to arrive home in Pittsburgh until the middle of October. Mr. and Mrs. Greenway will make their home in New York.

ATLANTIC CITY.

Henry Specht Discharged from Hospital, but Still Slightly Lame as Result of Accident.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Henry Specht, the Pittsburgher who was knocked from a street car several days ago by iron pipes projecting from a passing wagon, was discharged from the hospital today. He is slightly lame as a result of the accident, but otherwise is in good condition.

People Feel Charitable.

The collections in the churches yesterday for the benefit of the Atlantic City hospital aggregate about $800. At St. Paul's church the donations amounted to $175; Baptist church, $51; Central M. E., $50; First Methodist, $115; First Presbyterian, $75; Ascension, $87. The sums contributed at the other churches swell the total to the sum mentioned.

Harrold Calls It Fake.

The following communication is from William A. Harrold, business manager of the recent floral chair parade and is self-explanatory:

"Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 18.

"Editor The Pittsburgh Gazette.

"In simple justice to your paper and its thousands of readers, I desire to state that yours was the only paper represented in Atlantic City's first floral chair parade, and the story printed in an esteemed contemporary to the effect that it had an entry which was decorated in the Pittsburgh colors and was occupied by Hallie Erminie Rives was a fake. The paper did not have a chair of any kind in the parade, and Miss Rives could not have graced a chair, for the best of reasons, as she was not in the city. Yours very truly, W. A. HARROLD."

The existence of a picture showing Miss Rives seated in a decorated chair is explained by the fact that such a photograph was taken about two weeks ago and exhibited in Atlantic City and elsewhere for the purpose of advertising the parade.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Clara Morris Talks About Girls Who Would Go on the Stage.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Clara Morris took Chautauque by storm. More than an hour before the time for the lecture all the desirable seats in the amphitheater were taken; so many being curious to see how the actress would appear as a lecturer. When Miss Morris came on the platform she was given the Chautauqua salute, which she saw today for the first time and to which she responded in her usual graceful manner.

Her talk, for she would not have it called a lecture, was filled with anecdotes both pathetic and humorous, of stage life, and replete with good advice to young women who were considering entering the profession.

"There is a great difference between the girl that is stage struck and the one that wants to go on the stage," she said. "The former has only the natural craving of the young for excitement, fine gowns and the music. She can be cured. Give her a course in dancing and she will soon have enough excitement, fine dressing and music. She will dance herself into men's hearts and the stage will be forgotten. But the girl who is irresistably drawn to it, who, knowing 'Juliet' by heart, is content to take a part uttering but one sentence, she must go on the stage; even if she is your daughter, let her try it, begin at the beginning and advance as far as her brains will allow her.

"She has been brought up properly, she knows right from wrong and if she cannot resist the temptations of stage life she is in danger between your own home and the public library. But I would choose an easier life for her, not that I fear the temptations, but where she might have more leisure and fewer disappointments. Stage life is not such a jolly one. Its great drawback is its monotony. There have been times when I would rather have died than go in the same place, say the same words, looking into the face of the same man and hearing the same music as I had done hundreds of times. But acting is an art, a profession of respect and honor. There have been men and women in it whose lips have been touched by the fire of genius. Many young faces are turned towards its shrine, but there are only a small number that reach the inner circle.

"But I would say to the future actress, take upon yourself a vow that whether you reach the inner circle or are to go no farther than the entrance, leave on the altar the white flowers of a stainless life."

After the lecture a public reception was tendered Miss Morris.

HOW TO HAVE A GOOD WIND.

Hunters invariably withhold meat from their dogs, feeding them upon dry bread, corn meal and similar foods. When asked the reason for confining hunting dogs to such a diet, an experienced huntsman replied: "Meat spoils their wind and blunts their keen scent." Dr. Baeltz, a German physician, practicing in Japan, observed the same thing with reference to Japanese runners. The coolies who carried him lived on rice and beans. He gave them beefsteak. After three days they refused it, declaring it made them tired. The best of all muscle feeding foods is Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey, made by Battle Creek Sanitarium Food Company. Each cake, delicately browned flake represents a flattened wheat grain, thoroughly dextrinized through cooking and toasting. It contains all the muscle building qualities, is appetizing and immediately digestible.

Things looked a bit squally for the champions in the ninth inning of yesterday's game, even though they were four runs to the good and the 1,975 spectators were kept on the anxious seat until the last Quaker had been struck out. The last batter happened to be Jacklitsch, who was sent in as an emergency heeler in the place of Pitcher White, but he made a fool of his job by allowing himself to be called out on strikes, and the game ended 7 to 4 in the Pirates' favor.

When the visitors' half of the ninth was reached the Pirates looked to be on easy street, but ball games are never over until the last batter is out. The first man up, Barry, drove a hot liner out which Beaumont made a pretty catch of. Krug then singled and Bransfield was out from Ritchey to O'Connor. Jennings was hit with a pitched ball and Doolin singled, filling the bases. Childs waited for four bad ones and Krug was forced in with a run. There was where any old kind of a hit would have raised havoc, but Jacklitsch wasn't equal to the emergency and the lump that had gathered in the spectators' throats slid back into its normal position.

Leach Made the Star Play.

The game while not one of the best pitched of the season was an interesting one for the spectators as there were all kinds of neat plays, with Tommy Leach as the chief contributor in that line. In the second inning Jennings shot one down at third which was an odds on favorite for a single and the scorer started to chalk it up that way, but to the amazement of everybody little Tommy beat the ball down with his ungloved hand and a position back of third shot the ball over to first and got it there ahead of the runner. It was beyond question one of the finest feats ever seen at Exposition park.

Tommy not only figured in the sensational fielding line, but at bat he also proved his worth. In the seventh inning, with two on bases, two out and the Quakers one run to the good, Tommy rapped the ball down against the left field bleacher fence for three bases, driving in the two runs and thus putting his team in the lead. In the batting line Tommy had a fine runningmate in his old college friend, Rowdy Jack O'Connors. In the eighth, when there were two hands on bases Rowdy landed the ball to right for what would ordinarily go for a single, but the sphere took a bad bound, rolled to the score board and Jack having covered the bases, got credit for a home run.

Doheny Was Very Wild.

Doheny was on the rubber for the Pirates and started out as wild as an untamed broncho. He had the hardest kind of trouble in locating the plate and during the afternoon furnished half a dozen bases on balls as well as hit one batsman. Harry White, who has always been a trouble maker for the Pirates twirled for the Quakers, but was not as effective as usual and got a pretty lively bumping.

The champions did not score until the fourth inning when a single by a fearfully wild throw by White on Ritchey's bunt and a single by Burke produced two runs. Singles by Smith and Beaumont and Leach's three-bagger brought two more in the seventh and bases on balls to Ritchey and Burke and O'Connor's home run netted three in the eighth.

The visitors scored one in the fourth on singles in succession by Jennings, Doolin and Childs. Two more in the fifth on a single by Wolverton, base on balls to Barry, a life by Hulswitt, and a single by Jennings. In this inning the champions put up a display of dopey ball. In the ninth Doheny forced Krug across the plate with the visitors' fourth and last run of the game. The score:

NATES OF THE GAME.

In the seventh, after Leach had made his three-base hit, driving in two runs, Burke, who was in the coacher's box back of third, fooled the Phillies by tearing in toward the plate, as they thought it was Tommy stealing home again. Umpire O'Day sent Burke to the bench and Jimmy was satisfied to go in and take a rest.

Hughey Jennings took his Quakers to Chicago last night and took with them a record of not having won a game in Pittsburgh this season. The Phillies tried hard for a win on several occasions, but luck and good baseball on the part of the Pirates were against them. What the Philadelphia team needs is a few players who can swat the ball.

Experience should teach the managers of other teams that if they want to win games from the champions they should at once pick up ex-Pittsburgh pitchers. That has been the team's record this season when McNeese, Eason, Sparks and last, but not least, Eddie Poole, all plucked a game from Clarke's men. Cast-offs have been Pirate hoodoos sure enough.

The minute the Phillies got in the lead yesterday they started to chatter away like a lot of magpies, but when the Pirates showed front in the seventh the Quakers closed up like a lot of clams. They opened up again in the ninth, when they got three men on the base paths, but their joy was shortlived, and they departed from the park a dejected looking lot of ball players.

That ninth inning was enough to give the spectators nervous prostration, but the champions pulled through all right. The players kept yelling at Doheny to steady down and keep the ball over the plate, and Eddie was doing the best he could, but at that he was very wild. Any kind of a hit would have caused trouble, as the champions were visably nervous at that particular stage.

Hughey Jennings was limping about as a result of that first-base collision with Wagner in Saturday's game, and in the third inning after getting a single, he had to get Iberg to run for him. In the fourth while at bat, Doheny shot one in that made Hugh jump back, and O'Connor yelled, "Be careful, Eddie, don't hit him on that bum leg." Just the same Hughey cracked out a pretty single.

"Right over the bag, Hank," yelled Jack O'Connor in the sixth as he made a dive to gather in Wolverton's hot grounder, which was about a foot foul. Rowdy's cry did not fool the umpire and Jennings, who was coaching, gave O'Connor the laugh, while Jack walked back to his position with a look of injured innocence on his face. Just to think that any umpire should doubt O'Connor's word.

The Giants will be here today, headed by John J., better known as Muggsy McGraw. The team comes from Chicago, where it took four straight from the Seelefites, and its even betting that they will bunch a straight string here. There's nothing slow about those New Yorkers once they get started, but they come from the Rip Van Winkle state and have been doing the Rip act for the best part of the season.

It is admitted in local baseball circles that all but three of the champions have signed contracts to play here next season, but who the holdovers are is kept quiet. It is known that nearly all the players have been approached by American league agents, and some very tempting salaries offered. President Dreyfuss is not at all afraid of losing any of his men and feels sure they will all be in line at the proper time.

That Hulswith boy who plays short for the Quakers is quite a ballplayer and worked in a pretty double play on Leach and Ritchey in the first inning. He should confine himself to ball playing, though, or else study up a few new cries. His parrot-like utterance of "Good work, old man," grows very tiresome, particularly when it is uttered after an opponent whacks the ball for three bases or a home run, when it sounds very much like sarcasm.

The play that Tommy Leach made on Jennings' grounder in the second inning was one that simply beggars description. The ball shot from the bat with awful force and it was dollars to doughnuts that it was a single, if not better. Tommy managed to break it down with his ungloved hand and then from a position ten feet back of third had to make a long throw, but he got the ball over, and even Jennings took off his hat to the play. It certainly was a great one.

Jack O'Connor's home run in the eighth inning was a very lucky one. Ordinarily the hit would not have been good for more than a single, but when the ball reached Barry, who was set for it, the sphere took a funny bound, landed Barry's clutch right on it, and continued its journey to the score board. Doolin tried to block Rowdy at the plate and got a good hard jolt for his trouble. Jack doesn't often get homers and he wasn't going to have that one nipped by a redheaded catcher.

Doctor Harry White, the Quaker twirler, tried to turn a trick in the eighth inning, but it reacted and he was badly fooled himself. White was on second base with one out when Smith hit an easy one to Wolverton, base on balls to Barry, a life by Hulswitt, and a single by Jennings. In this inning the champions put up a display of dopey ball. In the ninth Doheny forced Krug across the plate with the visitors' fourth and last run of the game. The score:

O'HAGAN'S TRIPLE PLAY.

Duplicates a Feat of Paul Hines Made Years Ago.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 18.—In a game today in which Rochester of the Eastern league defeated Jersey City by a score of 10 to 6, First Baseman O'Hagan of the Rochester team made a triple play unassisted. Some 20 years ago Paul Hines of the Providence National league team made a triple play unassisted, so it was said at that time, but this play has always been a matter of dispute, but since then has any baseball player been able to make a triple play.

In one of the early innings of today's game Shoch was on second and Mack on first base. Butler, in an attempt to bunt, hit a short infield fly. O'Hagan ran in and caught the ball a few inches from the ground. He then ran to first base and touched the bag heading off Mack. O'Hagan then went on to second, which he reached before Shoch, who was running for third, could get back.

RACED IN RAIN.

American Yacht Was in Lead for Coronation Cup.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The auxiliary steam yacht sailing match from the Nab lightship to Cherbourg, France, and back for the coronation cup presented by the earl of Crawford, was started today in a down-pour of rain. The Valhalla, owned by the earl of Crawford, led over the line, but was quickly overhauled by the American yacht Utowana (A. V. Armour) of New York, which disappeared in the mist with a good lead. The Rosabelle (R. Ramage) and the Sunbeam (Lord Brassey) brought up the rear. King Edward witnessed the start. The yachts encountered a heavy head wind.

Nearly an hour after the rest, the Czarina, owned by Albert Brassey, M. P., started in pursuit of the other yachts in the race.

NELSON SHOWED WONDERFUL WORK

THE BOY RIDER CREATED A NEW WORLD'S MARK.

Went 20 Miles in 27 Minutes and 18 Seconds, Riding Freeman and McFarland Off Their Feet—Will Try for Another Record Today.

Joe Nelson, the wonderful boy rider of Chicago, last night lowered the world's record for motor cycle-paced-races in the remarkably fast time of 27 minutes 18 seconds for 20 miles. Nelson's work in keeping his pace with such precision has never been equaled, the boy never wavering for a second and stuck to his pacers as though glued to them. Thousands applauded the wonderful ride and Nelson was surrounded by an admiring multitude as he jumped from his wheel at the finish.

The former world's record was made by McLean at Providence, he having ridden the 20 miles in the remarkably fast time of 27:24. Nelson lowered this by 16 seconds and made the pace so fast that such a great rider as Howard Freeman found the pace too fast and could not keep his place. His manager, however, stated that Freeman was sick all day. Floyd McFarland was lost from the start but kept his pace until the last mile, when he fell to the wayside, but was picked up on the second lap, losing little time.

The Race Was Very Exciting.

The race was one of the best seen in this city. All the motor cycles were extra fast and the crowd grew more and more excited as the miles were whirled off. It required some time to get the motor cycles in position, but at the crack of the pistol McFarland led. Nelson and Freeman soon gained on him. Freeman leading for three miles, despite the efforts of Nelson's pacers to go to the front. It was pretty work and it looked for awhile as if Nelson was to be sidetracked, as Freeman's pacers used good judgment in heading Nelson's machine off. On the third lap of the fourth mile Freeman lost his pace and fell to the rear. Bad judgment was used in picking him, and before he took his place Nelson had gained 9 laps on him.

The race was exciting, as Freeman tried to make it up, riding a terrific pace and gaining one-half a lap. At the tenth mile the pace was too hot for Freeman and he lost his motor. Two laps were gained by Nelson before Freeman picked up his machine. But the little rider speedily gained from the 11th mile, when both Freeman and McFarland found themselves distanced by their pacers. McFarland had been losing steadily from the beginning, but kept in the race, expecting to win out through the other two losing their pacers. Nelson, disappointed them, however, riding the full distance without once wavering, as the following fast time for miles shows:

First, 1:21; second, 2:40; third, 3:59½; fourth, 5:18 (the fastest mile, 1:18); fifth, 6:41; sixth, 8:01½; seventh, 9:22¼; eighth, 10:56½; ninth, 12:07; tenth, 13:27½; 11th, 14:56½; 12th, 16:17½; 13th, 17:41½; 14th, 19:06½; 15th, 20:28¼; 16th, 21:52; 17th, 23:41; 18th, 24:36½; 19th, 25:27; 20th, 27:18.

Freeman lost his pace at the end of the 18th mile and again in the 20th, leaving the track. His time for 15 miles and three laps was 25:38. McFarland rode 17 miles in 27:17, finishing second.

Will Try for Another Record.

This afternoon at 2 p. m. Nelson will go against the record time for a paced race without competition held by Major Taylor, 1:19 2-5. Freeman and Champion did 1:18 in competition, which was equaled by Nelson last night on his fourth mile.

In the first event, half-mile novice, but three riders were entered, F. Hoffman, Ed. Puff and J. Stoup. Only the final was run, Hoffman winning in 1:09, with Stoup second.

The second event, a one mile handicap, was interesting, only local riders being entered. Percy Brown was expected to carry off the final, but was pocketed between his brother, Harry, leading, and Charles, Reel, on the outside, Reel winning by a few feet.

First heat—C. C. Hartman, 90 yards, first; Percy Brown, scratch, second. Time, 2:05.

Second heat—Charles Reel, 40 yards, first; C. B. Leonard, scratch, second. Time, 2:12.

Third heat—Harry Brown, scratch, first; F. Hoffman, 120 yards, second. Time, 2:00 3-5.

Final—Charles Reel, 40 yards, first; Percy Brown, scratch, second; Harry Brown, third. Time, 2:06.

WORLD'S RECORD BY MUSKETEER

WENT SEVEN FURLONGS AT SARATOGA IN 1:25 FLAT.

Previous Record Made by Clifford on Same Track in 1894—Two Good Things Were Put Through and Books Were Beaten.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The Musketeer broke a world's record in the second race at Saratoga today. He ran the seven furlongs in 1:25 flat. In 1894 at Coney Island Clifford established the record at the distance on a circular track 1:25 2-5. Close finishes were the order of the day at the track. Doure, the top weight in the mile and a quarter handicap, Baron Pepper and Ethics furnished a soul-stirring finish, the trio finishing heads apart in the order named. In the opening event of the day Orloff, a 40 to 1 shot, Allan and Lord of the Vale, August Belmont's main reliance for the futurity, were only separated by heads at the wire.

Blues, the 1 to 7 favorite for the last event, was beaten cleverly by Huntress, a 20 to 1 shot. The stellar feature was the Mohawk selling stakes at a mile and a furlong for which Port Royal was an odds on favorite and an easy winner. The start was bad. Andy Williams was all but left at the post. He made up a lot of ground, however, and was only beaten a neck for the place by Pealfinder. The track was fast; the weather cloudy; attendance light. CUBANS WERE BEATEN IN TEN-INNING GAME

Contest Was a Close One All the Way, but Visitors Fell Down at Last.

BOTH SCORED IN THE NINTH

In the Extra Inning the Cubans Got Badly Mixed Up and Two Runs Was the Result—Fine Battle Between the Pitchers.

The Homestead Library Athletic club yesterday defeated the All-Cubans at Steel Works park in a 10-inning game, the wind-up of which was distensely exciting and made up for the monotonous run of the first eight innings.

Up until the ninth nothing occurred to vary the evenness of the contest, and not a run was scored, the sides being retired rapidly, although both teams made bids for runs which were nipped. The Cubans started the excitement in the ninth by E. Moran sending the ball into deep center field for three bases. Valdez followed with a two-base hit and Moran scored.

Things looked black for Homestead, but Cosgrove hit and stole second. He managed to get across the plate on Schriver's hit but the decision was close. The Cubans went ahead again in the tenth, Martinez knocking a fly to right for three bases and came home after Romero's fly to center had been caught by Mullen.

It was again up Homestead to even up. The Cubans got rattled and helped matters. McChesney hit to short and the ball was thrown wide. Jones sacrificed. Nagle hit, McChesney going to third. Torreyson struck the third time, but the catcher dropped the ball and he went to first and stole second, McChesney going home. Nagle attempted to steal home, but was thrown out at the plate, the Cubans getting all mixed up in their playing. Torreyson, who got to third, got home on Marshall's fly. The score:

WANT PASSENGER TRAINS.

Washington County Citizens May Bring Suit Against Railroad Company.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The citizens of the upper end of Chartiers township will go into the Washington county court and attempt to compel the Pennsylvania railroad to put passenger trains on the Western Pennsylvania railroad. It will be remembered that the Pittsburgh Coal Company, through F. L. Robbins, brought suit against the Western Washington Company some months ago to prevent the company from going through lands at Houston, his contention being that the road was not a railroad in the proper sense of the term; that its builders and owners intended it for a coal road.

The owners of the road, however, claimed that it was their intention to do a general railroad business, and the court gave them the decision, decreeing, however, that the road must do the business of a common carrier. It is now over a year since the road was completed, but no passenger trains have been put on.

MUNHALL ROBBERY.

Safe in a Grocery Store Is Blown Open and $50 Secured.

The grocery store of Darsie & Boyd at Munhall was entered by burglars some time early yesterday morning, the safe blown open with dynamite and its contents, amounting to about $30, stolen. The robbery was not discovered until yesterday morning, when the store was opened for business by one of the members of the firm.

An entrance had been gained into the building by prying open one of the rear windows with a jimmie. The safe is located in a small office in the rear of the building and after the combination knob was broken off a heavy charge of dynamite was inserted into the hole. The explosion blew the door off the safe, and as the money compartment was unlocked the cracksmen had but little difficulty in getting the money. Paper and books were thrown on the floor.

CITY TO FORCE THE REPAIR OF BROKEN BRIDGE

Pittsburgh Railways Company Must Make Smithfield Street Structure Safe.

M'CANDLESS WILL ACT

Says That Car Company Was Long Ago Warned of Danger—City Engineers Find Traction Side of the Bridge in Bad Shape.

Dr. J. Guy McCandless, director of the department of public works, is preparing to take steps that will force the Pittsburgh Railways Company to strengthen its portion of the big Smithfield street bridge to a point of perfect safety. Necessity for this was brought forcibly to attention by the accident on last Saturday, which indicated that the traction portion of the bridge is unsafe. Dr. McCandless said last night:

"On Sunday I made a personal examination of the bridge and found that on the traction side it sorely needed a general strengthening. There is probably no immediate danger, but it is time to act. We realized this some time ago and I asked the traction people to make certain repairs, which they have so far neglected. This they are required to do in conformity to the terms of the contract between the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction company and the city, which provides that the traction company must keep the bridge in good repair. I demanded that a heavier and stronger rail and roadway be laid to make the traction line safe across the bridge.

Will Act Promptly.

"Today the superintendent of the bureau of construction, Frank H. Schwartz, and other engineers have been making a careful examination of the structure. On their report I will act at once. What the report will be I do not know, but I am quite certain that it will call for the improvements which I had suggested, along with the placing of additional cross ties to strengthen the entire super-structure on the traction line side. The other side, used for general wagon traffic, is in good condition."

Dr. McCandless said that all the city bridges are now in good condition and that the only trouble is on the traction side of the Smithfield street bridge.

Company Was Notified.

In relation to this he said that he had done all he could to get the traction company to fulfill its portion of the contract except to take legal steps or to condemn the bridge, and this has hardly been called for.

The inspection yesterday under the leadership of Superintendent Schwartz of the bureau of construction developed that many of the timbers on which the traction roadway rests are rotten. It is said that these timbers have not been renewed in 10 years. Director McCandless said last night that little time would be allowed to elapse before the traction people would be required to put their portion of the bridge in good condition.

"The report of our engineers," he said, "which will be made today, will be acted on promptly and this report will show what is required. It will undoubtedly call for a renewal of timbers and a heavier rail construction, as I had suggested, besides the placing of additional cross ties."

Another Danger Point.

The city bridge at the Point is believed to be in a dangerous condition, but Dr. McCandless said that the bridge is in much better condition than when it was bought by the city, repairs being made to it recently, and it is constantly watched and attended to.

Many citizens who have watched the old structure tremble and shake under the weight of the street cars will not agree with Dr. McCandless' statement that there is no urgent need of repairs to the Point bridge. There is now to the credit of the bridge repair fund $26,000 and this is available at any time for such repairs as may be needed and they should be made at once.

It is understood to be the province of the board of public works to see that all the public bridges are kept in repair and safe condition. While, according to the contract between the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction company, the portion of the bridge occupied by the traction company is to be kept in good repair by it, the city is understood not to be free from damages resulting from accident on this portion.

'SQUIRE HAD PLUCK.

An Ohio Justice Narrowly Escaped Death in Quelling Riot.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—High Hill, this county, was the scene of a riot last night growing out of the abuse of a boy by a man named Swank. Squire Bethel attempted to command the peace and narrowly escaped being killed. He mounted a horse and rode to this city, 20 miles, and summoned the police.

A strong squad was sent out with him and brought in Charles Osborne and George Bailey, two of the ringleaders, Swank having made his escape. Osborne and Bailey were held in $500 each. Half a dozen persons were hurt, but none seriously.

PACIFIC MAIL TAKES ON BOOM OF SOME VALUE

Rock Island Deal With Mallory Line Seems to Have Strong Influence.

WANTED—A BEAR LEADER

Wall Street Expects One to Appear at Any Moment—John W. Gates' Name Mentioned—Continued Prosperity in Steel.

(By Leased Wire to The Gazette.)

New York, Aug. 18.—Ever since the passage of the bill authorizing the construction of a trans-Isthmian canal the Wall street community has been tentatively bullish on Pacific Mail. The stock has been actively touted for bullish favors, but hitherto it has steadfastly refused to bull to any advantage. Its sharp advance today was on buying by brokers who commonly represent well informed interests. It was the most positive and aggressive buying at any rate that has been seen in the stock for a long while and since a movement has long been expected the professional element is inclined rather to believe that the stock will be carried higher. It is believed that Southern Pacific interests have conceived a higher regard for the possibilities of Pacific Mail since it became known that the Rock Island people are on the point of making a deal with the Mallory line, the acquiring of which would give Rock Island water facilities between Galveston and New York similar to those now commanded by Southern Pacific.

A bit of comment one frequently hears in the street is that this present stock market situation sooner or later is sure to develop a new bear leader. The adjective "new" is superfluous, perhaps, because now there is no bear leader at all.

Last of Big Bears.

Addison Cammack was the last of the great bears. He is dead. James R. Keene once was a formidable bear, but he was won over long ago and his present interests are understood to be such as would make it impossible for him to turn bear again if he wanted to. There are a few acceptable candidates for the mantle of the late Mr. Cammack. There is "Tom" Lawson of Boston, unhampered by bullish likings and free of any prejudice favorides. He might turn bear and kick up an ugly sea for the bull craft, but he is not one of Wall street's own.

Some say that John W. Gates is likely to be the man. Here is a suggestion worthy of being thoughtfully revolved. John W. Gates and those about him who compose the so-called Gates party are fast traders, in and out, here and there. It is doubtful if they are so badly sewed up in anything that they could not clear up their long interest in one month of a bull market. Still it has to be remembered that the Gates party has important interests in common with some of the most pretentious bulls in the street—with the Morgan party, for example. A bear leader must be free and foot-loose. The selling of stocks short on a big scale is adventurous work.

Professional opinion runs rather to the probability that a bear leader will develop in the person of some trader now obscure. He will need to make only one or two successful raids to get a following. The room crowd is waiting for him.

Expanding Prosperity Epoch.

Each succeeding mouth bringing no abatement, but rather a positive and orderly increase of demand causes steel and iron trade authorities to extend the limits within which they had forecast the continuation of present prosperity. Six months ago there was a feeling of more or less uncertainty. Some of the best critics in the business were beginning to fear that it was too good to last, and that caution would be wise. It was said that the summer would see a pronounced decline in demand, but as June and July passed without the remotest sign of any such failing off, and as August unfolds with the demand still rising and more positive, the erstwhile skeptics are freshly confident.

Those who said four months ago that the prosperity would continue another year at least, and two months ago that it might be depended upon to last another year and a half, are saying now that nothing short of an industrial cataclysm can stop it within three years. It is explained by such facts as those received by Rogers, Brown & Co. from their Cincinnati correspondent, who says:

Stocks Once More Reduced.

"It has been predicted that a very limited stock of pig iron at the merchant furnaces could not be further reduced. Official statistics for August, however, show a reduction during the past month of about 6,000 tons, and the total stocks now reported are only 75,000 tons. From November 1, 1900, the stocks were about 760,000 tons. A comparison with these figures will show how much in excess of consumption the production has been, and the amount of foreign iron that is being imported should also be taken into account."

Commenting on the rush of consumers to cover wants for the whole of next year, Rogers, Brown & Co. themselves say: "There is but one explanation of this unprecedented buying. It means that in the opinion of manufacturers throughout the United States the business of 1903 is assured. The rate of buying also indicates that the volume is expected to be even greater than in 1902."

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—There is some excitement at Leadville, Col., over the alleged discovery by a grocer of a process for securing "oil of gold." The grocer claims to take ore showing only a trace of gold by fire assay and get returns of $60 to $175 to the ton. Of course the formula is a secret one, and while the grocer does not discredit fire assays, he says his process gets the "oil of gold" from the ore which is lost in other methods of treatment.

A revival is reported in the old camp of Mineral, Ida. The ore bodies are large, and while running largely to silver, carry good values in gold and copper. The mines of the camp are well developed and were worked profitably for many years prior to the decline in silver in 1893.

Eleven tons of ore from the Butcher Boy of Diamond, Utah, yielded $175 per ton. It came from a 10-inch streak of sulphide of silver, carrying a small amount of gold.

Great values are being obtained from the dumps of the Le Roi at Rossland, B. C. Four carloads shipped to the Northport smelter from a 40-foot face in gold. From this grade the values vary downward to $10 and $12 ores, of which the main body of the dumps consist. The vein in the Little Charley at Pilkin, Col., has widened to two feet with a pay streak of 12 inches showing in the bottom of the shaft.

A good strike is reported on the claims of the Indianapolis Copper Company at Riverside, Wyo., at a depth of 30 feet.

Sinking has been resumed in the three shafts of the Portland at Cripple Creek. The company is now in a position to handle any flow of water likely to be encountered at greater depth.

The drills of the Grand Mogul near Silverton, Col., have pierced the main vein at 1,700 feet from the mouth of the tunnel. The ore body shows 24 feet in width, averaging $25 per ton. This is one of the biggest strikes in San Juan county.

An eastern syndicate has secured a short time bond on the Eva group, near Nelson, B. C., which is said to have greatly improved since it was turned down by the London and British Columbia Gold Fields Corporation.

Mining reports are breathing well in the Gold Basin district, Ariz. As the ores can be worked cheaply by the cyanide process, several roller mills will be installed this fall.

The Metal Market.

The week in copper opened quietly and there were no marked changes from last quotations, but with indications of more activity noted in case of buyers. Standard, spot, closed at $10 90@11 25; lake, $11 50@11 70; electrolytic, $11 40@11 50; casting, $11 40@11 50. There were few transactions reported on this basis. London reported a net decline of 2s 6d, spot closing at £51 10s and futures £51 15s. Prices on the broke about 40 points today, under plenty of offerings and no demand to speak of. Some small jobbing lots were taken at the decline but as a rule consumers and speculators were not in the market for large quantities. Spot closed at $28 00@28 50. No change ocurred in the English market on the spot price, which closed at £127 10s; futures, however, declined £1 12s 6d, closing at £123, owing to full offerings from the far eastern market. Lead ruled steady and unchanged in the local market at $4 12½ and at London at £11 2s 6d. Spelter also showed no change here or abroad. New York closed at $5 45 and London at £18 12s 6d. English iron markets were a little firmer. Glasgow closed at 56s 8d and Middlesboro at 42s 1½d. The domestic market was firm and quiet at old prices. Warrants not quoted. No. 1 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern soft, $22 00@23 00.

Money Needs Made Wall Street Dull

MONEY DEMANDS MAKE DULL DAY IN WALL STREET

Needs of Circulation Making Inroads Upon Banking Reserves.

LOAN RATES MARKED UP

New York Sub-Treasury Contributed Slightly to the Money Market by Reason of the Full Tide in the Monthly Pension Payments.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 18.—A dull and sagging stock market today was the natural consequence of various evidences going to show that the expanding needs of the circulation are making increasing inroads upon banking reserves. The continued transfer of credits to foreign lenders through the medium of the exchange market mitigated the anxiety over the money outlook without entirely curing it. The response of the London discount market to the American borrowing demand gives warning that the process may be checked by bringing the interest rates of the two centers to a parity.

In the local money market the banks very generally marked up their rates for call loans to 4½ per cent, and the rate touched 5 per cent during the morning. There was less demand for commercial paper and the rates for time loans were firmly held at 5 per cent for all periods.

Reports from interior monetary centers were of a firm tone to the money market and a large demand from smaller town and country places for currency, indicating the nearer approach of the demand upon New York reserves. New York exchange at Chicago continued to drop and was quoted at 10 cents discount compared with 20 cents premium early last week.

Sub-Treasury Assisted.

The New York sub-treasury is contributing slightly to the local money market by reason of the full tide in the monthly pension payment, but the recent daily deficit reported by the treasury at Washington gave place today to a surplus of several hundred thousand dollars for the first day during the current month. This recalls the course of the government revenues last month, the deficit having reached nearly $13,000,000 about the middle of the month, but falling to $7,500,000 by the end of the month.

Saturday's treasury statement showed a deficit for the month to date of $2,751,327 compared with a surplus of more than $500,000 for the corresponding period last year.

The decrease in internal revenue thus far this month by reason of the repeal of the war taxes has reached $21,401,344, compared with last year, while the customs receipts this month are $2,586,324 greater than last year and total treasury receipts have expanded this month $1,221,195 over last year.

It is only, therefore, by reason of an increase in the month's expenditures by the government of $4,520,000 that the money market has experienced any relief from the drain caused last year by the government's surplus. Whether the increased rate of expenditure of the government is likely to be kept up is a problem much discussed in Wall street, owing to the approaching depletion of banking reserves.

Money Hardening in London.

Besides the local money situation, the market was depressed by selling of stocks for London account, owing to hardening money rates there. The net earnings of railroads for June reported showed some decline in the southwest owing to shortage in the corn movement, and intimations were given of probably similar results for July.

The reported retirement of the president of the United States Steel Corporation had some influence in the general market, although the stocks of that corporation were but little affected. Offsetting factors in the heaviness of the market were the strength of Louisville & Nashville on supposed progress in the financial readjustment, in Toledo, St. Louis & Western on rumors of Vanderbilt control; in Texas & Pacific on the alleged seeking of control by St. Louis & San Francisco; Chicago Terminal stocks on rumored plans of new tenants and in a number of minor specialties. The closing tone was dull and heavy.

The reduction in the yearly interest disbursement on the Central of Georgia first incomes weakened that group of stocks and had some sympathetic effect elsewhere. Total sales, par value, $1,770,000.

United States refunding 2s advanced ¼ and the new 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales for the day were 378,500 shares.

Expanding needs for money are making inroads upon the banking reserves and caused a dull and sagging stock market yesterday.

Subtreasury relieves the New York anxiety about money by payment of the monthly pensions.

Market was also depressed by selling stocks for London account. Railroads made some show of strength.

Talked About in Wall Street

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

Stock speculation was held under repression yesterday. Transactions showed a pronounced curtailment in volume, and the dealings were of an exceedingly monotonous character, with the chief and practically the sole activity confined to the pool and clique issues. Uncertainty regarding the monetary situation, following the unfavorable bank statement of Saturday appeared to be the dominant influence in the market. Practically the only developments in the money market, however, were in the line of relaxation rather than stringency. Call money loaned at from 5 to 2 per cent. Time funds were firmly held at from 4¾ to 5 per cent.

Speculative sentiment was much mixed. At present this represents merely the opinions of the pools and cliques and the traders on the floor. Bankers and commission brokers are apparently discouraging new speculative commitments until money matters take a more definite shape. The subject of Mr. Morgan's homecoming played a considerable part in the discussion of the day. Last week among the traders the belief was practically unanimous that huge "deals" would be at once announced and that an immediate attempt would be made to start the speculative game anew. This was somewhat modified yesterday, some brokers recalling the fact that some of Mr. Morgan's recent homecomings have not been attended by advancing prices, but by sharp declines.

News developments, aside from the break in exchanges, were not particularly pronounced, and were void of influence on the market of the day. Crop and weather news was less generally satisfactory, and though in some quarters, the strength of cereals and the easing of granger shares was attributed to this, it is doubtful if Wall street paid any attention to the matter, for the belief in a bumper corn crop is too well founded to be lightly disturbed. Nothing of a novel nature was reported from the anthracite coal strike. The railway traffic returns were generally favorable, with the exception of Missouri Pacific, the most important of all. This showed a decrease of net earnings for June of $124,428, caused by heavy increased operating expenses.

Manipulative orders put into the market by the syndicates and executed by the pools and cliques, big and little, served to divert the market, of which they were the chief sustaining influence. Louisville & Nashville was "tipped" early in the day, and advanced sharply, under cover of which there was some realizing in Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis. Little pools got to work in some of the specialties, such as American Grass Twine, Chicago Terminal, Detroit Southern, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Pacific Mail and International Silver. There was nothing more in the way of news and nothing out of the ordinary in the gossip to explain these movements. Traders laughed at most of them, and the men who tried to realize on the advances reported great difficulty in selling stocks.

Corn and Oats Higher; Wheat Lower

GRAIN MARKET OPENED LIVELY BUT FELL BACK

The Bulls Had a Brief Turn on the Chicago Exchange.

CORN CLOSED HIGHER

September Oats Were a Shade Up With Wheat Lower—Fear of Frosts in Northwest Gave Prices an Upward Turn Early in the Day.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Grains had an elusive bull turn today. All pits experienced good early action with strong upturns on fears of frosts in the northwest, flooding rains in the Iowa corn fields and general poor grading. Prices were bid up sharply, but the unexpected strength was soon lost when holders turned to sell in the somewhat narrow markets. At the close September wheat was ⅞c lower, September corn ⅜c higher and September oats a shade up. September provisions closed 2½c to 5c higher.

Wheat started firm. Conditions in the northwest were considered as unfavorable for the maturing wheat. There was too much moisture and even frosts were feared. England had bad weather and sent over comparatively firm cables. There also was a decrease of 1,509,000 bushels in the visible supply and a marked falling off in world's shipments.

The fair early advance was something of a surprise, inasmuch as the accumulations from heavy receipts over Sunday were expected to bear the market. Outside markets, however, started well up and September, somewhat sympathetically, opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher, at 70c to 70¼c and sold to 70½c. A selling movement augmented by unloading by manipulators of the September-December spread brought a sharp slump.

Factors in the Weakness.

The fact that the seaboard cleared 1,028,000 bushels in wheat and flour did not stay the downslide. Estimates for tomorrow's receipts at 465 cars and a generally heavy movement, especially in the southwest, were factors in the weakness. Possibly as much as anything, however, in the down-turn was the natural bearish influence of the big wheat yield, which sooner or later must press on the market.

In general it was bearish sentiment against bullish statistics. September floundered at 69c and closed weak, ⅞c lower, at 69@69¼. Local receipts were 355 cars, only three of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 323 cars, making a total for the three points of 678 cars against 398 last week and 848 a year ago. Breadstuffs on passage increased 1,048,0000 bushels. World's shipments were 7,304,000 bushels against 11,344,000 a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,483,000 bushels against 1,424,000 bushels last year. The seaboard reported 12 loads taken for export.

Corn held to its strength better than the other grains. After the early spurt trade lapsed into

The Local Stocks Were Quite Dull and Rather Heavy in Tone

REPORTED SALES WERE GENERALLY AT NET LOSSES

Only Three Issues Scored Advances and They Were Fractional.

LIGHT AND HEAT SLUMPED

Price Declined to 77, but Rallied to 78 at the Close--Marsden, A. V. R. R. Preferred and Window Glass Firmer--Coalers Were Easier.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was dull, quite uninteresting and rather heavy in tone. Only 20 different securities were dealt in, and of that number only three closed with gains, two of which were of ⅛ and one of ⅝. Four were unchanged and the remainder showed declines ranging from ⅛ to $9 a share. As a rule the sales were comparatively small and without special importance. The greatest volume of business was in Philadelphia Company common, which sold 400, 300 and 100 shares at 49¾, a decline of ⅛, a house with close Philadelphia connections being the only buyer. The boom in Manufacturers' Light & Heat, which caused the price to advance to 79 Saturday, as suddenly subsided and the price declined to 77. Later it receded to 78 on support given by a house closely identified with the insiders. The action of the stock strongly suggests manipulation and an effort to advance the price regardless of merit. Not that the stock has not much merit, for it is claimed the company is making 30 per cent on its capital. It only pays 8 per cent on par, $50, however, and the most sanguine of bulls only claim it will pay 10 in any early period. There are rumors of deals of several kinds, but the bulls disclaim any tangibility for these and say the stock is only going up because it is worth more. Enthusiasts say it will bring 100 and that sellers now will fell like "chumps" before long. The bears say such talk is simply "hot air." A. V. R. R. preferred developed some strength on a small demand and closed ¼ higher at 34¼. Marsden common followed the Philadelphia market and reached $5 a share, the highest price paid in a year or more. Window Glass common was very dull but closed ⅝ higher at 62⅜. Crucible Steels were stagnant and the coalers dull and easier at fractional declines. The banking group was quiet and generally lower. Electric seconds were very dull and unchanged, while Westinghouse Airbrake closed at 185½, a loss of ½ on small sales. Union Switch & Signal common reacted and closed 2 lower at 93. Fire Proofing common sold unchanged at 31 and Brewing common declined ½ to 27⅞. Bonds were without sales or material changes in the quotations. The market finished very dull.

PITTSBURGH FEATURES.

Bank exchanges gained $1,222,268 73.

Sales Pittsburgh stock exchange, 3,981 shares.

Real Estate Trust Co. sold at $261, a decline of $9 between sales.

Westinghouse Electric seconds were dull and unchanged at 109¾.

Westinghouse Airbrake closed at 185½, a decline of ½.

A. V. R. R. preferred closed at 34¼, a gain of ¼.

Window Glass common was ⅝ higher at 62⅜.

Crucible Steels were very dull. Common closed at 22¼ and preferred at 86⅞.

Western operators were credited with selling stocks and were traders with testing the market for weak spots.

Pacific Mail strong; said to have been bought by people likely to be informed in regard to the Southern Pacific policy on the property.

The movement in Louisville & Nashville is said to be in anticipation of Mr. Morgan's return and the announcement of the new deal.

Cattle.

Cattle receipts at the Central stock yards today were 100 carloads, 15 more than arrivals of last Monday, but not sufficient to make a plentiful supply, and prices for best grades advanced over figures prevailing last week. Common and canner cattle held steady, with quotations unchanged from those ruling at the close of the week.

Choice, 1,400 to 1,600 lbs., $7 75@8 00; prime, 1,200 to 1,400 lbs., $7 15@7 50; good, 1,000 to 1,200 lbs., $6 40@7 00; tidy, 1,000 to 1,100 lbs., $5 60@5 90; fair, 900 to 1,000 lbs., $4 25@4 75; heifers, 700 to 1,100 lbs., $4 25@5 75; good fresh cows, $40 00@60 00; common to fair, $20 00@35 00.

Hogs.

Arrivals of hogs at the East Liberty stock yards amounted to 35 double decks, same as receipts of last Monday, but the market is weak and very slow. Prices for all grades went lower and the demand was quiet. Dealers said this morning that a cut of 10@15c all round was necessary to relieve the situation and restore prices.

Prime heavies, $7 00@7 05; best mediums, $6 95@7 00; heavy Yorkers, $6 90@6 95; light Yorkers, $6 90@6 95; roughs, $5 90@6 30.

Sheep and Lambs.

Twenty-six car loads of sheep and lambs arrived today, a very slight increase over receipts of last Monday. The market was slow and lower on sheep, while lambs and veal calves were firmer.

Best wethers, 95 to 100 lbs, $4 25@4 40; good, 85 to 90 lbs, $3 90@4 15; mixed, 75 to 85 lbs, $3 25@3 70; culls and common, $1 50@2 00; choice lambs, $5 75@6 00; common to good, $3 00@5 50; veal calves, $7 50@8 00; heavy and thin, $5 00@6 00.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER OPENING OF SAFETY BOX

Partial Hearing in Equity Suit of Jacob Byers Against Nephew.

SAID TO CONTAIN BONDS

Prosecutor Wants Nephew, W. S. Byers, and Fidelity Trust Co. Enjoined from Opening Box in the Latter's Vault.

Judge Frazer yesterday, in common pleas court, No. 2, held a partial hearing in the quity suit of Jacob Byers of Greensburg against his nephew, Attorney W. S. Byers, and the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. The suit is to restrain the defendants from opening a box, said to belong to the nephew, in the vaults of the trust company without permission of court and to compel an accounting.

In suits entered in Greensburg the plaintiff charges the defendant with misappropriating $175,000 in bonds and $50,000 in cash. The bonds are said to be in the box. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Samuel McClay of Pittsburgh and Beacom & Newill and Moorhead & Head of Greensburg. Attorney Byers, the defendant, who was not in court, was represented by Attorneys John M. Hunter of Pittsburgh and John B. Keenan and Atkinson & Peoples of Greensburg.

Attorney Hunter for the defense said the service was defective; that no copy of the order of court had been served on his client, and that there was no authority for serving a non-resident, where the damage had occurred outside of the county; also that the trust box is not within the jurisdiction of this county.

Judge Frazer remarked that one of the defendants is a resident of Allegheny county and that the contents of the box are within the jurisdiction of the court. It was contended by the plaintiff's attorneys that the court had complete jurisdiction in the case, as the property in the box was that of the plaintiff's. Judge Frazer made the remark that if the property was that of the plaintiff, he was entitled to have the box opened.

It was finally decided by the judge to grant a continuance for 30 days, in order to give the defendants time to prepare an answer. In the meantime the box will remain in the custody of the trust company.

WANTS JUDGMENT OPENED.

Wife Says Husband and His Brother Schemed to Deprive Her of Property.

Margaret Bach yesterday filed a petition in common pleas court No. 1 asking that judgment be opened in the case of Mathias Bach against John Bach, upon the ground that it is a scheme to deprive her of her interest in property in the Fifteenth ward, Allegheny. The defendant is the petitioner's husband and the plaintiff is her brother-in-law.

Mrs. Bach declares the plaintiff and defendant caused to be entered upon record a judgment note for $1,000 payable in 15 days after August 4, 1902, which note was given by her husband. She says the giving of the note was part of a scheme between the two to deprive her of her interest in the property mentioned, as the defendant was only indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $130.

The petitioner states that two and one-half years ago she and her husband entered into an arrangement whereby she was to do dressmaking and use the proceeds to support the family, while Bach was to devote the income from his labor to the purchase of a home and the property in question was obtained under this arrangement. It is stated the defendant has threatened to transfer the property to his brother. A rule was granted.

Hotel Funds Distributed.

Receipts were filed yesterday in common pleas court of the money realized from the sale of the Monongahela house property under the partition proceedings of Florence C. Miller against Jacob N. Donaldson. Those who shared in the distribution and the amounts received were: Kate C. Hays,, Annie M. Donaldson, Alexina C. Blair, $35,404.18 each; committee of William M. Crossan, $85,404.17; Frank Semple and J. Denniston Lyon, executors under the will of Charles J. Clarke, $88,739.44. Added to this are the expenses of the proceedings.

Wife Wants $5,000 Damages.

Mary L. Myers wants $5,000 damages for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Stephen Myers, by Flora Burwell or Knelpschield. She alleges that by reason of the defendant's actions she was deprived of the "comfort, fellowship, aid, society and assistance" of her husband. She alleges also that the defendant enticed him away from his home and is harboring Myers.

An answer was filed in the equity case of C. P. Mayer against the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company to restrain the defendant fro constructing a bridge over Chartiers creek on the plaintiff's property. NO DECISION YET.

Government Engineers Have Not Prepared Plans for Raising Bridges.

Capt. William L. Sibert, United States engineer, declined yesterday to discuss the report that the government commission of engineers, of which he is one, would recommend that the bridges across the Allegheny in Pittsburgh be raised. The commission has held but one meeting and cannot possibly have arrived at a decision in the matter.

It is known, however, that the commission has decided to have plans prepared showing the grades of street crossings at the bridge approaches, the height to which the structures should be elevated to satisfy the rivermen, the cost of making the changes and the value of damages to property owners.

The rivermen believe that the board of engineers will report in favor of having the bridges raised, but property owners along both sides of the river will oppose any change. Property on Sixth street would be ruined, they say, by the change in the height of the Sixth street bridge proposed by the rivermen, for, as was shown two years ago, the raising of the bridge would mean that approaches for vehicles would have to be built on the Pittsburgh side from Fifth and Seventh streets, as no vehicles could get upon the structure from the Sixth street end, and pedestrians would have to climb up and down a flight of steps at the north end of Sixth street.

The Trials of Life.

NEW MOVEMENT AGAINST MOROS BEING PLANNED

Gen. Chaffee Cables War Department That Action Has Become Necessary.

OUTPOSTS ARE ATTACKED

Natives on Mindanao Renew Their Petty Warfare on Americans—Base Must Be Strengthened Before Campaign Begins in Earnest.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Aug. 18.—A cable dispatch has been received from Gen. Chaffee, stating that in his judgment an active campaign against the Moros in Mindanao is necessary in order to curb the opposition that has been growing against United States authority. The dispatch was considered of sufficient importance to be repeated to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

Gen. Chaffee has been directed to use his own discretion in the matter, and will no doubt engage in an aggressive movement agains the insurgent Moros.

Some time before Senator Root left Washington, the Moro situation was under consideration and from a dispatch then at hand the secretary was of the opinion that the Moros must be dealt with severely before they would respect the authority of the United States.

Gen. Chaffee is now in Mindanao, having left Manila some days ago. If the campaign should continue for some time he no doubt will remain in the Philippines instead of leaving on September 30, as he had planned. It is understood at the war department that Gen. Chaffee has sufficient troops to make an active campaign.

MANILA, Aug. 18.—The Moros in Mindanao are renewing their attacks upon the outposts and pack trains of the American column at Lake Lanao, which is under the command of Capt. J. J. Pershing of the Fifteenth cavalry. The Americans have successfully repulsed the Moro attacks and have suffered no losses.

The commanders of the American forces in Mindanao report aggressive action against the Moros to be necessary and ask permission to move against Bacolod and other strongholds of the hostile Mohammedans. There are about 2,000 American soldiers on Mindanao available for the desired aggressive movement. It is believed this number is sufficient to defeat the Moros, although it would possibly be necessary to strengthen their base before undertaking the movement.

A force of native constabulary engaged a band of ladrones in a sharp fight last Saturday near Caloocan, about four miles north of Manila. The arrival of reinforcements for the constabulary won them the victory. Four members of the constabulary were killed and one was wounded. The ladrones left three of their number dead but carried off the wounded.

Judge Ambler, who conducted the trial of Frederick Dorr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, who were charged with libeling Benito Lagarda, a Filipino member of the civil commission, announced today that he found the defendants guilty. They were not sentenced. Judge Ambler decided that the headlines of the article were libelous and the text was not privileged because it was published maliciously and was therefore libelous.

M'MAHAN SCORED THE FIRST BLOOD

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER GAMBLE'S DECISION FOR HIM.

Case Was Appealed as Test of Right of Steamers to Put Employes Ashore at Points for Which They Do Not Ship.

A case was yesterday appealed to the United States district court which is expected to prove a precedent as to the right of steamship companies' agents to put employes off their craft except at the posts for which the employes ship. United States Commissioner H. D. Gamble sent to the United States district court the case of William McMahan of the West End against the towboat Ironsides of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company.

Attorney Albert York Smith is counsel for the plaintiff. The suit before Commissioner Gamble is for wages due the plaintiff, but Attorney Smith says he will soon institute suit for damages against the coal company.

It is alleged that on July 13 last McMahon hired in the Pittsburgh harbor as a deckhand on the towboat Ironsides for a trip to Louisville, Ky., and return, and that on the night of July 20, when the boat was near Warsaw, Ky., McMahan fell into a pump box while on duty and badly injured both hips. He could not go to work the next morning, and it is alleged the captain of the Ironsides, after trying to get McMahan to accept six days' pay and a hospital ticket in lieu of the wages set him ashore at Warsaw without a cent.

McMahan alleges that he tramped his way back to Pittsburgh, reaching here August 4, requiring a physician's care since then. The hospital ticket offered, he says, was useless, except at Cincinnati, 100 miles away. Commissioner Gamble allowed the claim of McMahan for the sum of $38 60, but the defendant company appealed the case.

McMahan will shortly enter suit for heavy damages.
